

'H. R. Hughes' turns out to be a blonde

By CLYDE H. FARNSWORTH

ZURICH, Switzerland — "H. R. Hughes" is a German-speaking blonde in her early thirties who opened an account at the Swiss Credit Bank using a forged Swiss passport as identification, Swiss banking sources said Friday. They also said she was not Howard R. Hughes, the billionaire.

The sources were able to clear up one of the mysteries surrounding the autobiography of Howard Hughes, the book allegedly about the reclusive industrialist that McGraw-Hill, Inc., was planning to publish. The information became available after the big Zurich bank became suspicious that the account opened by "H. R. Hughes" had been used to perpetrate a fraud.

Normally Swiss banks go to great lengths to protect their clients under the rigorous 1934 banking code, which makes betrayal of banking secrets a prison offense.

But secrecy provisions are waived when the banks have reason to believe swindles and other criminal activities are involved. (Tax evasion is not considered a crime, and thus is still protected by Swiss banking silence.)

A HIGHLY PLACED banking source said that the Swiss Credit Bank, an institution with $7 billion in assets, and 6,000 employees, now is fully cooperating with the office of the district attorney of the Canton of Zurich, which has just launched an investigation into the case.

EXCLUSIVE
N.Y. Times Service

It was last May that "H. R. Hughes" walked into the Swiss Credit Bank's gleaming offices on the elegant Bahnhofstrasse, an avenue that fairly drips with gold, and deposited a $50,000 cashier's check drawn on the Bankers Trust Company of New York to open the new account.

That check dated April 15, 1971, represented the first installment of royalties McGraw-Hill arranged to pay to "H. R. Hughes" for the book.

Two other payments were made by the publishing company to "H. R. Hughes" account, No. 320,496. They were for $275,000, with a check dated Sept. 22, and $325,000, with a check dated Dec. 2.

The $650,000, the total of the three checks, has subsequently been withdrawn, the sources said.

Chester C. Davis, lawyer for the Hughes Tool Company, which Howard R. Hughes, the industrialist, controls, has said that Hughes did not receive the money, adding that it was apparent that criminal conduct, including tax fraud, has been committed in this case because McGraw-Hill did pay the money to someone.

Although McGraw-Hill had maintained that handwriting analysis showed "H. R. Hughes" and the industrialist to be the same person, the company issued a statement last night in New York that said questions had developed "concerning the holder of the Swiss credit account made out to H. R. Hughes. It added that McGraw-Hill had "filed an action with the appropriate Swiss authorities to obtain full details."

ALL TRANSFERS of the money were handled through Clifford Irving, an American novelist who lives on the Balearic island of Ibiza, off Spain's Mediterranean coast, according to affidavits filed in New York by Irving. Irving produced the autobiography and maintained that it was based on tape-recorded interviews with Hughes.

Spokesmen for Hughes and a voice in a telephone interview, identified by reporters who knew him as that of Hughes, have denied that the industrialist had any part in producing the manuscript.

Zurich banking sources indicated that, if there had been some scheme to obtain the money illegally, those responsible might not have expected Hughes to react so forcefully. They also said that not many people knew that Swiss banks sometimes opened their books.

Fight to 'bitter end'—ILWU

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Union and management Friday moved to resume negotiations next week in the West Coast dock strike in the wake of President Nixon's call to Congress to end it by legislative fiat and a dictated settlement.

But longshore labor leader Harry Bridges, with his men vowing to stay on the picket lines to the bitter end, warned that the President's proposed arbitration board "will not settle" the long dispute.

The Pacific Maritime Association, representing employers at the West Coast's 24 struck ports, called on Bridges' union to resume bargaining as early as today.

Bridges replied that union negotiators could schedule a meeting "probably next week."

In Honolulu, PMA President Ed Flynn told a news conference that he supported Nixon's proposal. But, he added, "we would prefer to settle this matter across the bargaining table."

Flynn was in the islands for a convention of the

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association reached a tentative New York port accord with ship firms Friday night, winning retention of their guaranteed annual wage but accepting a system of fines if the members refuse to work whatever pier they are assigned.

An earlier master agreement tentatively reached called for a 32.5 per cent wage increase over a three-year period for 45,000 East and Gulf coast dock workers.

Marine Cooks and Stewards Union, Law, and went out again last Monday.

Economists warned that although the strike involved only three states and 15,000 workers, its economic impact was such that it alone could blunt the nation's economic recovery.

Wheat was stacking up on the docks in Seattle and the California Farm Bureau Federation said the strike had cost farmers $100 million already and could lead to permanent and disastrous loss of overseas agricultural markets.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz called an "emergency meeting" of farm leaders in Washington next week. He said foreign buyers were "losing faith in our ability to deliver."

The PMA said it was reluctant to settle the dispute in any way but over the bargaining table, although a spokesman said management would go along with Nixon's proposal if Congress approved it.

But Bridges made it plain he saw little value in Nixon's proposal for legislation which would order the strike ended as soon as it reached the President's desk, and would authorize a three-man board to dictate a binding settlement within 40 days.

The plot thickens

By DOUGLAS ROBINSON
New York Times News Service

NEW YORK — The attorney for Clifford Irving, the novelist who claims to have compiled an autobiography of Howard R. Hughes, said Friday and later denied that he and his client were "leaning" to a theory that the novelist had been the victim of a hoax by a "gang of six to eight people."

The attorney, Martin S. Ackerman, said in a telephone interview that such a hoax would have had to involve an actor who impersonated Hughes and "two master forgers" able to duplicate the handwriting of the industrialist.

Several hours later after Irving flew to Spain, Ackerman denied that he really favored this theory and said that instead he leaned to what he called "the loyal servant" theory. Under this theory, a mysterious Swiss bank account into which went money intended for Hughes would have been opened by a Hughes employee instead of an imposter.

Irving left the country Friday night, departing from Kennedy airport at 7 p.m., for what his lawyer described as "a weekend with his family," on an island off the coast of Spain. Ackerman said that Irving was expected back on Monday and that the trip had been planned for several days.

Life issued a statement strongly opposing his departure.

After Irving boarded Flight 952 for Madrid and Barcelona, where he was expected to catch a plane home, Life issued the following statement:

"We were opposed to his departure at this time, and we told him so. But he went anyway. We thought it was a very bad time to go, while developments were still taking place in Switzerland and while we're hopefully awaiting more information from the Swiss police, that might resolve if there is a fraud and who perpetrated it."

Responding to Life's criticism, Ackerman answered for Irving by saying: "He just said what Mr. Nixon said in 'Mr. Hughes' manuscript. He said 'my family comes first.'"

Later, Ackerman said that his words had been meant ironically when he outlined details of the "imposter" theory, which were so "preposterous" that he assumed the irony would be grasped.

Rejecting his earlier statement, he said that he and Irving actually believed the first theory to be the most viable.

"If I lean to any theory, I lean to the 'loyal servant' theory," he said.

Connally blasts labor gluttony

NEW YORK (AP) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said Friday that labor "can no longer thumb its nose at the public and take everything it can grasp."

Connally told more than 400 businessmen that labor had a responsibility to work with government and business to revitalize the economy.

"We can no longer tolerate the total and complete selfishness of any segment of this society. And we're not going to," Connally said.

Connally, who criticized business interests in a Washington speech Thursday, made no specific reference to labor wage requests in his appearance Friday.

But he drew a burst of applause from the businessmen when he said: "Labor has reached a point where it can no longer thumb its nose at the public and take everything it can grasp."

Connally said, "Labor is out to get what it can. It is out to represent the interests of its members just as you (in business) are out to represent stockholders."

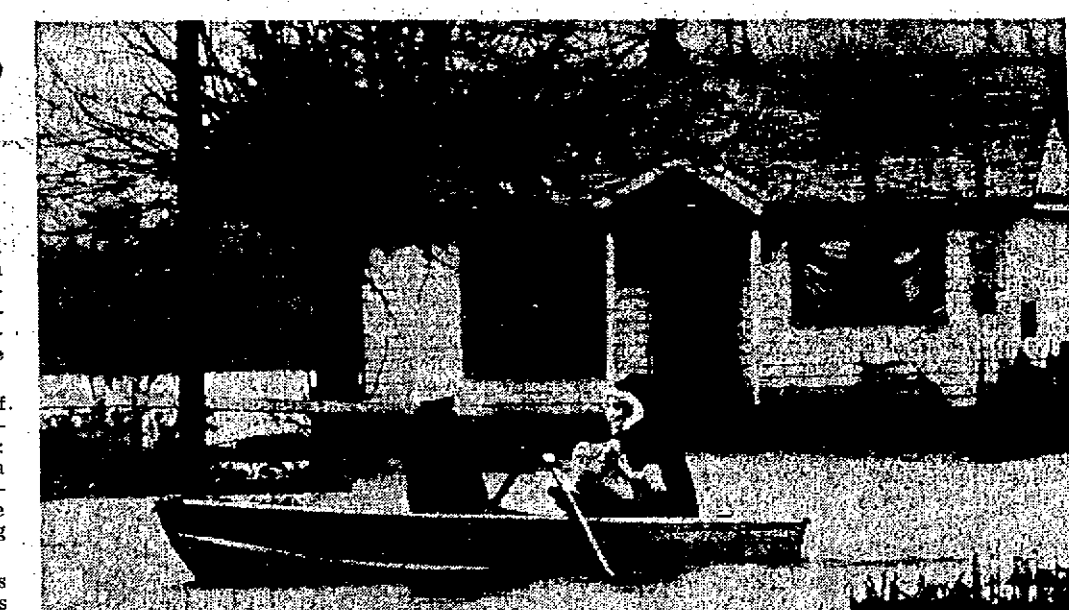

"You are both out to do the best job possible, but there comes a time when we all have to give for the public interest," Connally said.

"Both business and labor must do their share," he said.

"Each must, willingly or unwillingly, do its part if we are going to be competitive with other nations."

Connally, who spoke at the final luncheon session of a two-day conference on American industrial competitiveness, noted that business had been less than enthusiastic about some aspects of President Nixon's economic measures.

He said that one uncertainty mentioned by business leaders was the West Coast dock situation.

Economy 'booming,' U.S. view

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government reported Friday that the nation's economy started to boom at the end of 1971, while inflation for the year was held to its smallest increase since 1967.

In two key economic reports, the Commerce Department said the gross national product (GNP) jumped 6.1 per cent in the last three months of the year, while the Labor Department reported the consumer price index rose only 3.4 per cent during the year.

The administration predicted the economic improvement would continue during this election year.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, told newsmen the GNP report was "very encouraging," and that the December rise in retail prices had been expected as part of a "bulge" in the cost of living once the freeze was lifted.

Demand 'human rights' 22 Quentin cons refuse food

SAN QUENTIN (AP) — Twenty-two San Quentin convicts, considered among the most dangerous by prison officials, are on a hunger strike to demand what they say are their "human rights," prison officials said Friday.

Associate Warden James W. Park said that since Monday night the men have refused food — some by throwing it out of their tiers after it's served, some by throwing it at correctional officers and some by pushing the trays back.

Park said the protest was centered on the first floor of the maximum security adjustment center — the scene of violence last Aug. 21, in which three guards and three convicts including Soledad Brother George Jackson were killed.

Among the strikers are the two surviving Soledad Brothers, Fleeta Drumgo and John Clutchette; and Ruchell Magee, who with Angela Davis is charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy in the Aug. 7, 1970, shootout at the Marin County Civic Center in

2 plane crashes, bus wreck kill 75

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Two plane crashes and a bus-truck collision killed 75 persons in Colombia Friday. One of the airline dead, a Roman Catholic bishop, was the leader of Colombia's rebel clergy.

Most Rev. Gerardo Valencia Cano, bishop of Buenaventura, was one of 35 persons killed in a government-owned DC-3 that crashed and burned in the Andes mountains of northern Colombia. The bishop openly preached revolution.

Shortly after the Andes crash, a turboprop plane of the Urraca line fell in a rainstorm after takeoff from Bogota and the 20 persons aboard perished in the burning wreckage, officials said.

Later, a bus loaded with passengers collided with a tanker-truck, killing 20 persons and injuring 17, police said. The accident occurred about 45 miles east of Bogota.

Severe storms were reported throughout Colombia and officials investigated the possibility that they contributed to all three disasters.

Chinese fallout rains on U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission said Friday that radioactive fallout from China's Jan. 7 nuclear bomb test has been detected in 16 U.S. states.

It identified radioactive particles found in air samples as fission products including Radioiodine-131, which "is of primary health significance because of its tendency to concentrate in the thyroid gland."

The Jan. 7 test was of a weapon device equal in energy yield to less than 20,000 tons of TNT. It has been speculated that it was a small warhead for a medium-range missile or a fission trigger for an H-bomb.

The AEC said that the radiation dose to the general population from the Chinese fallout was "less than 1 per cent of the annual amount received from natural background radiation."

It said the atmospheric radioactivity "is expected to decay and dissipate within the next several weeks to levels which cannot be detected by the sampling network."

The fallout was detected in air samples collected Jan. 13-17, six to 10 days after the test.

It was found at 86 air sampling stations in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, Utah, and Wyoming.

These sampling locations are part of a 108-station air surveillance network operated in 21 states by the Environmental Protection Agency's western environmental laboratory in Las Vegas.

Palley and pals live it up in Paris

Continued News Services

American millionaire Reese Palley and 750 big-spending U.S. tourists Friday began a round of gala parties and dinners at the finest restaurants in Paris to celebrate Palley's 50th birthday. The millionaire fine arts dealer from Margate, N.J., chartered two 747 jets to fly his group across the Atlantic for the weekend and "the most magnificent birthday party in history." Although some of the partygoers were personal friends of Palley, most of them qualified for the big weekend by buying a $650 work of modern art — a Salvador Dali lithograph — from Palley, guests said. The group planned celebrations throughout the weekend at such high spots as the Ritz, the Tour d'Argent, and Maxim's restaurant. Palley said he was putting up the entire lot of guests at the Hotel Intercontinental at his own expense. Hotel personnel said the fling will cost him around $250,000. But Palley, who plans to open a gallery in Paris to sell American porcelain figurines, said in the end he would recoup the money spent. "I will sell only American objects of art," Palley said of his new gallery in Paris. "I'm looking for the great crafts in America. The shop's motto will be, 'bring something American home from France.'"

Bow's out

Rep. Frank Bow of Ohio added his name Friday to a growing list of veteran Republican House members who plan to retire after this session of Congress. Bow, a veteran of 22 years in the House, noted he would be 71 by the November election. He has suffered several heart attacks and doctors said that "two more years of the pressures of this office would be without risk."

Bogart quits

Lt. Gen. Frank Bogart resigned Friday as associate director of the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston. Bogart, 63, held the No. 3 position at the space center.

Died from fall

The city medical examiner's office said Friday that violinist Michael Rabin, 35, died Wednesday as the result of a skull fracture suffered in a fall. Examiner Milton Helsen said the fall may have been caused by an epileptic seizure, but that the seizure was not the direct cause of death as reported earlier by police. Rabin made his Carnegie Hall debut in 1950 at the age of 14.

Bardot plot

French movie star Brigitte Bardot will have no difficulty proving her title to a plot of land in Buzios, Brazil, authorities said Friday. "We will never let escape this opportunity to promote Cabo Frio (the town of which Buzios is a subdivision) through one of the best artists of recent times," Mayor Otilio Dos Santos told a Rio newspaper. The newspaper said Miss Bardot plans to build a luxury beach house on the land, given her in 1963 by Antonio Castro, Dos Santos' predecessor as mayor. Some questions have arisen about the title to the property, but Miss Bardot hopes to clear them up next month when she comes to Brazil for the Mardi Gras.

Long overdue

Mrs. Gertrude Schimmel, the first woman to become a New York City police captain, became a deputy inspector Friday. She may be the highest-ranked policewoman in the world. Mrs. Schimmel, 53, a wife and the mother of two sons, was promoted by Police Commissioner Patrick Murphy during ceremonies at the Police Academy. Deputy Inspector Schimmel, a 30-year veteran of the force, was made a captain last Aug. 26, the same day that women marched to mark the 51st anniversary of suffrage. Her promotion will place her in the youth aid division as commanding officer.

Lamb gift

Priests presented Pope Paul VI with two live lambs Friday in an annual ceremony marking the feast day of St. Agnes, a 3rd century martyr. The Pope smiled and petted the lambs before turning them over to nuns who will use their wool to make palliums, the woolen collars worn on special occasions by the Pope, archbishops and some bishops.

Sentenced

Lulu, the hefty character of the "Hee Haw" television series, was sentenced to four years in the Dallas penitentiary Friday after she was convicted of marijuana possession. The defendant, whose real name is Bertha Louise Roman, was convicted by a jury after eight hours deliberation. Mrs. Roman was arrested and charged March 13, 1971, after police raided her Dallas apartment. Officers said they found 5 1/2 pounds of marijuana.

Admiral

President Nixon Friday assigned Rear Adm. Douglas Plate to become commander of the 2nd (Atlantic) Fleet headquartered in Norfolk, Va. Plate, 51, a native of New York is currently deputy chief of naval personnel. Nixon also nominated him for promotion to three star admiral.

Back on board

David Packard was re-elected chairman of the board of the Hewlett-Packard Co. Friday, a month after he resigned as deputy defense secretary. The millionaire industrialist returns to the Palo Alto electronics firm he co-founded 30 years ago with William Hewlett after three years in the No. 2 position at the Pentagon, a job that cost him approximately $23 million. Packard agreed, when he took the office, to hold in trust his stock interests for the duration of his term and donate any profits to charity. Packard's original $600 investment had risen to $300 million in 1969. Hewlett will continue as president and chief executive officer.

Air pirate

Richard Charles LaPoint, a New Englander accused of hijacking a Hughes Airwest airliner and parachuting with $50,000 was ordered held without bail Friday. U.S. Magistrate Royce Stekler said he would hold a preliminary hearing Wednesday to determine if the government had sufficient evidence to take the young man to trial in U.S. District Court in Denver. Air piracy carries a possible penalty ranging from 20 years in prison to death.

Rites pending

Funeral services were pending Friday for the Rev. Howell Forgy, the retired Navy chaplain who told the crew of the USS New Orleans to "praise the Lord and pass the ammunition" during the attack on Pearl Harbor. Forgy died Wednesday in Glendora following a long illness. He was 73. Survivors included his wife, Louise, and three sons.

Forgy was aboard the New Orleans when the Japanese attack began on Dec. 7, 1941, and uttered the famous phrase after the electrical lines supplying power to the ship were knocked out, causing the elevators used to raise the five-inch ammunition from below decks to cease operating. He told the crewmen to "praise the Lord and pass the ammunition," as the sailors formed human chains to pass the 55-pound projectiles and their 38-pound bags of powder up ladders to feed the guns.

Get set to go home, 2,040 Yanks told

Combined News Services

SAIGON—The U.S. command Friday ordered 2,040 American soldiers in South Vietnam's far north to get ready to go home, leaving behind only two U.S. combat battalions and an artillery outfit around the former imperial capital of Hue. The command told the U.S. 101st Airborne Division, the last full fighting division in Vietnam which already has lost two of its three brigades and half of the remaining brigade, to fold its colors.

Infantry, aviation, artillery and headquarters units which had been in the northern provinces of Quang Tri and Thua Thien were stood down by command order Friday. Even a five-man public information detachment and two equally small units whose jobs were to mix defoliant chemicals were tapped for the latest reduction to bring the U.S. forces in Vietnam down to 139,000 by Feb. 1.

Standdown of the latest combat battalion leaves 12 maneuver battalions spread throughout Vietnam, half of them in the northern quarter.

Terrorists kill 10 at ceremony

SAIGON Saturday — Two terrorists shot up a religious ceremony near Hue Friday and killed 10 civilians and wounded four others, South Vietnamese military officials said today. They said the chief of Pho Ninh hamlet, and his deputy were among those slain in the attack by suspected Viet Cong just before noon. There was no immediate explanation why the ceremony was attacked, but hamlet chiefs and other local officials are favorite targets for enemy assassination squads trying to disrupt the Saigon government's security and pacification efforts.

Common Market members total 10

BRUSSELS Saturday — Leaders of Britain, Denmark, Norway and Ireland converged on Brussels Friday for the signing of a new 10-member European Common Market treaty that promises new prosperity to 255 million western Europeans. At 4 p.m. today, the heads of government and cabinet ministers will sign the Treaty of Brussels, enlarging the European Economic Community from its original six founding nations to 10. The six-nation Common Market — France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands — already constituted the world's largest single trading bloc.

Flash fire destroys Manila airport

MANILA, Saturday — A flash fire virtually destroyed the terminal of the Manila International Airport early today causing explosions and forcing some people to jump from the building to save their lives. The chief of the Pasay City Fire Department, said two persons, both employees of Philippine Airlines, were missing and feared trapped on the building's burned out fourth floor. Officials said at least six persons were hospitalized. The fire started from an undetermined cause on the airport's mezzanine.

15 blacks die in Rhodesia rioting

SALISBURY, Rhodesia — Fifteen blacks have been killed and 40 wounded by police this week in rioting over a plan to bring a settlement between Rhodesia's white minority government and Britain. Prime Minister Ian Smith blamed the outbursts on agitators bent on "barbaric destruction." Smith's regime declared independence from Britain Nov. 11, 1965, while under pressure of the British Labor party government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson to give Rhodesia's black majority a greater say in the government.

Heavy rains bring floods to Northwest

SEATTLE — Rivers and streams in the Pacific Northwest bulged out of their banks or rose rapidly Friday in the wake of heavy rains that cut sharply into the snowpack in the Cascade Mountains. Families were driven from lowland homes, some rural communities were isolated and roads were closed by slides and high water. The Chehalis River in western Washington rose toward an expected record level of 72 feet, which would surpass the high point of a 1971 flood that caused an estimated $500,000 damage. Water poured into several streets in Pullman, site of Washington State University, in the city's worst flood since 1949. About 150 persons moved to higher ground at Moscow, Idaho, 95 were evacuated at Oakville, Wash., and 45 in Tillamook County, Ore. Schools closed at Centralia, Wash. Residents of several Washington communities were temporarily marooned by floodwaters. In 24 hours, Eugene, Ore., got nearly four inches of rain and Brookings, Ore., 3 1/2 inches. The rains and warm temperatures cut the snow depth by 50 inches in 24 hours at Government Camp near Mt. Hood in Oregon.

FBI breaks up big auto theft ring

NEW YORK — A steal-to-order auto theft ring, allegedly operating out of an Army-Navy store in a Brooklyn ghetto, was broken Friday with the indictment of 71 persons. The ring, which is suspected of having stolen up to 4,500 late model cars between September, 1969 and March, 1971, was described by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover as "one of the largest ever uncovered by the FBI." An FBI agent said that customers would pay $1,000 down and another $1,500 on delivery for the autos, most of them Cadillacs.

Draft lottery moved up to Feb. 2

WASHINGTON—The Selective Service said Friday it will hold its annual lottery Feb. 2 so that young men celebrating their 19th birthday this year will quickly learn their chances of being drafted in 1973. With draft calls continuing to decline, it is very possible that few of them actually will be inducted. The previous three annual lotteries were held in the summer.

Hong Kong flu spreading

ATLANTA — With Hong Kong flu spreading across the nation, the National Center for Disease Control reported Friday a "significant" increase in deaths from respiratory diseases in New England and the East. North, Central and Mountain states. The CDC said eight states, plus New York City and Washington, D.C., had widespread outbreaks of the flu.

Florida taking prisoners again

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — The Florida prison system will take down its "no-vacancy" sign Jan. 31 with the stepped-up early release of more than 200 men, but the head of the system said Friday "it merely is stop-gap action." Corrections Director Louie Wainwright ordered the prison to stop receiving new inmates last Tuesday when the population of the Lake Butler Reception and Medical Center reached 1,200. The institution has 1,006 beds.

Russ ships escorted to Aleutians

JUNEAU, Alaska — Two Russian fishing vessels, under Coast Guard escort, cut their way through drift ice in the Bering Sea Friday as they headed toward the Aleutian Islands. One Soviet ship was expected to reach the Navy base at Adak today. It was being led by the 230-foot Coast Guard icebreaker Storrs. The 180-foot Coast Guard buoy tender Balsam was escorting the other Russian ship, and they were expected to arrive at Adak Sunday. The two fishing ships were seized Monday within the 12-mile offshore fishing limit near St. Matthews Island. One tried to outrun the Coast Guard after a party of men was placed aboard but was halted after a chase.

State 'orders' Navy to quit polluting, start obeying law

By GILBERT BAILEY
Contributing Editor into a shoreside sewer system.

"The board regards this as an order," Jerome B. Gilbert, executive officer of the board, said. "We think the Navy ought to comply with our regulations as soon as possible."

The board, the state's top water pollution control body, wants the Navy to start the dockside sewage treatment system in 1972, adding the system should be "constructed not later than 1976."

"Now is the time for leadership on the part of the military," said Gilbert. "It is an ideal time for that."

In addition the board in probably its most far-reaching effort to get the Navy to clean up pollution of California waters, asked the Navy to immediately adopt "operating procedures to minimize or eliminate discharge of waste waters while vessels are located within the three-mile limit."

The Navy also was asked to report by July 1, 1972, on its "pollution load" within California waters.

"Upon completion of the study the state will determine the necessity for additional regulations or study," the board said.

"The Navy is the last major source of pollution in San Diego Bay," explained Gilbert. "Before too long it will be the remaining source in San Francisco Bay, and Long Beach and Los Angeles Harbors."

At present most Navy ships, including aircraft carriers with thousands of men on board, dump their sewage raw into California waters and harbors.

He added, "We feel the Navy should not wait until the last civilian offender has cleaned up, but do its job at the same time as everyone else."

One of the reasons that the state board is acting now was outlined by board member W. W. Adams of San Diego.

He has outlined plans developed by a San Diego Navy captain for a piping system which can hook up Navy ships to shoreside sewers.

"It appears to us to be workable and practical," said Gilbert.

In addition the Navy is in a better position to clean up its pollution than the merchant fleet.

"The Navy owns the whole works, the ships and the shoreside facilities," said Gilbert.

The regional water quality control boards are handling the problem of the merchant fleet, he said.

Gilbert said the board expects Navy cooperation, because of a presidential order to clean up and to obey local regulations.

"The board approved the resolution as a 'request' in order to avoid jurisdictional questions," Gilbert said.

"We hope that the Navy will play it straight. If the Navy does not do that, then the board will probably consider something else."

'Hysteria endangering nation's energy needs'

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Maritime Editor

"Hysteria and emotionalism" by environmental extremists is endangering future oil exploration vital to the nation's growing energy needs, the president of Standard Oil Company of California charged Friday.

The public has not succumbed to the "propaganda" of the environmental extremists, but should be alerted to the danger," H. J. Haynes said.

He spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Petroleum Industry Committee of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce aboard the Queen Mary.

"Americans need not make an irrevocable choice between a satisfactory environment on one hand, or economic progress on the other," Haynes said.

Addressing himself to environmental factors affecting the nation's energy needs, he said:

"You who reside in Southern California are acutely aware of how, on a number of fronts, our nation's energy objectives conflict with the goals of militant environmentalists."

"The result in this area has been the virtual shutdown of marine exploration and development, a concerted effort to impose new restrictions on drilling, and harassment of anyone who suggests there is anything good about oil development."

"This outspoken antipathy to oil is ironic in a region that derives such tremendous economic benefits from its petroleum resources."

Presumably to avoid confusion, the board would in the future elect a chairman "at noon on the first Monday in December in even-numbered years."

But, if the term expires in an odd-numbered year, the election will take place at "9 a.m. the first Tuesday following the first Monday in December."

New Board rules seek 'dignity'

By NOEL SWANN
From Our L.A. Bureau

Proposed new conduct rules which among other things would ban smoking, standing, bundles, suitcases or "other large objects" in the Board Room were presented to supervisors Friday.

The new board rules are the brainchild of Supervisor Warren Dorn, who said two weeks ago he was introducing them to "add dignity" to the supervisors' proceedings.

Perhaps the most significant change is that no supervisor would be able to introduce any motion unless he has a second among his colleagues.

Though the reasons were not spelled out, observers believe this is aimed at excluding those special items often introduced by supervisors more interested in the publicity value of a proposal than in its effectiveness.

Supervisors, too, would be governed by a rule that they confine their remarks to the question under debate and "avoid personalities."

And if any board members begin raising their hands in classroom fashion, it may result from the provision which reads: "No member shall leave his seat at the board table during any session without first having obtained permission from the chairman."

The new rules would allow for introduction of special items at Thursday meetings on a three-vote motion, rather than a four-vote requirement, as before. The rules ban everyone except board members, county officials and "recognized representatives of daily and weekly newspapers" from the area behind the railing which separates the board tables from the audience. Apparently no provision is made for TV and radio newsmen.

The new rules, which also ban the distribution of any literature in the board room, will require three votes to pass when they come up for discussion at next Tuesday's meeting.

The rules also would prohibit placards, signs or posters in the board room without prior permission of the chairman.

All demonstrations including "cheering, yelling, whistling, hand clapping and foot stamping" would be prohibited. So would standing or sitting in the aisles or along the walls.

While most other rules apply during meetings, the tobacco taboo applies "at any time" according to the draft proposals.

Thursday meetings would begin at 9:15 a.m. instead of 9:30 a.m. with the first 15 minutes reserved for presentation of scrolls, a new wrinkle for the Thursday sessions.

Presumably to avoid confusion, the board would in the future elect a chairman "at noon on the first Monday in December in even-numbered years."

But, if the term expires in an odd-numbered year, the election will take place at "9 a.m. the first Tuesday following the first Monday in December."

Prejudicial?

Recently my wife and I saw an ad in the newspaper for an apartment for rent in North Long Beach. We looked at the apartment, liked it and filled out a rental application. A few days later the manager called to say the owner refused to consider our application or check any of our references. Both my wife and I have steady, full-time jobs and easily can afford the rent. We have been good tenants at our present apartment. Because I am of Mexican descent, I feel that racial prejudice may have been involved. Do we have any recourse? J. E., Long Beach.

You can file a complaint with the California State Fair Employment Practices Commission, 322 W. First St., Room 2810, Los Angeles. They will investigate your complaint, and if they conclude that racial discrimination was involved, they will enforce the provisions of the Rumford Fair Housing Act. The commission tries to correct the problem through conciliation with the parties involved. If this attempt fails, a public hearing is held before the commission. If the commission decides in your favor, a court order requiring them to rent you the apartment is issued. Violators also may be fined.

Paternal concern

I was living with this man and had his child and he gave the baby his name on the birth record. Now we are married and he wants to be sure everything is legal so that the baby will get his Social Security benefits or anything else in case anything should happen to him. What should we do if anything? H. G., Downey.

If your husband is listed on the birth record as the father and if the child has his surname, there should be no problems, said a Long Beach attorney. But to be absolutely sure there will be no bureaucratic snarls later on, your husband can acknowledge paternity in writing and have the child's birth record amended, he said. He can do this by filing a form called "application for preparation of an amended birth record after legitimation by subsequent marriage of the parents" with the State Department of Public Health in Sacramento. For a copy of this form, write Los Angeles County Health Department, Vital Records, Room L-1, 313 N. Figueroa St., Los Angeles, Calif. 90012.

Back tax

I was an alcoholic for many years, afraid to face the world and my problems. After a complete mental and physical breakdown, I am back on my feet and trying to straighten out my affairs. During my alcoholic years I never filed federal or state income tax returns. I would like to do so now, but am afraid I'll be thrown into jail. M. J. B., Long Beach.

"We certainly are not going to have someone jailed for wanting to file back tax returns," ACTION LINE was told by Julie Eldson of the Long Beach office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. A spokesman for the state Franchise Tax Board agreed. You should request separate forms for each year you missed from the IRS, 3530 Atlantic Ave. and from the state board, 230 E. Fourth St. If you find yourself owing, you will have to pay the federal government a 5 per cent per month, or maximum of 25 per cent penalty fee on the amount you owe. There is a one half per cent per month interest fee or maximum 6 per cent a year penalty for any amount you owe the state. If you have never filed a state income tax return, there is a maximum 25 per cent penalty on the total you owe. If you have any questions, you can contact the IRS office at 426-1703 or the state Franchise Tax Board at 435-9110. Representatives there will, at no charge, help you prepare your returns.

Spin-off

Can ACTION LINE find out what the disc jockeys who all were fired from FM radio station KPCC are doing now? R. L., Long Beach.

You can tune in to Jeff Ganser and The Obscene Steven-Clean on Los Angeles FM station KMET, 94.7 on the FM radio dial, ACTION LINE was told by another KMET disc jockey, Richard Kimball. Ganser is on the air daily from 7 to 11 a.m. and has continued the serialized "Adventures by Morse" starring Captain Friday, an old-time radio program Ganser revived at KPCC. Steven Clean can be heard daily from 3 to 7 p.m. and on Saturdays he often is joined by ex-KPCC record spinners Uncle Joel and Doctor Demento. Mississippi Fats has returned to his old station, WBCN in Boston and Sam Kopper, who worked as a relief disc jockey at KPCC is now the swing man at KMET. Les Carter and his wife, Ontage, Nevada, who both had shows on KPCC, are "just floating right now," according to Kimball. About three months ago on a Sunday night, KPCC suddenly went off the air. When it returned, listeners found all the disc jockeys had been fired by the station management and replaced by more conventional "top 40s" types. Until the firings, KPCC, which began broadcasting a few years ago from the basement of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church, was well-known among "underground" FM listeners for its unusual programming, often a mixture of rock, classical and pop music, talk shows and old time radio serials.

Paraplegic held in shooting case

A 27-year-old paraplegic, whose condition, police say, permits him only to operate a wheelchair, was jailed Friday on suspicion of assault, with intent to commit murder in connection with the shooting of a friend.

Raymond J. Graves, of 12322 Martha Ann Dr., earlier had told sheriff's deputies that the victim, Richard Garvas, 30, had been shot by a robber in Graves' home Wednesday.

Sheriff's Detective Sgt. Ben Oxandabourne said that no robbery occurred, but indicated that investigators could be searching for another suspect in the case.

GRAVES could be booked on the assault charge without having actually pulled the trigger, he said.

Last April 15, Graves was sentenced to six months in Orange County jail on a conspiracy charge in connection with the fire death of an informant working for the state narcotics bureau.

The informant, Bruce Beck, was kidnapped from his Hollywood apartment in June 1969 and taken to Graves' home, where he was chained in the garage.

In an effort to attract help, Beck set fire to the garage, and died 10 days later from burns that he received.

BECK had been involved in a probe of a Southland narcotics ring, police said.

Graves originally had faced a murder charge, but that was dropped after Graves admitted to a criminal conspiracy charge. Besides the jail sentence, he was given three years probation. One other suspect was arrested in the case.

Sgt. Oxandabourne declined to speculate on how the shooting of Garvas, who lives in Huntington Beach, took place.

Speaking theoretically, Oxandabourne said that if two persons combined to shoot a third person, both persons could be jailed — despite only one of them actually pulling the trigger.

Oxandabourne said Graves is almost totally paralyzed. "He has some mobility in his hands, but not enough to take care of himself," Oxandabourne said. "He can operate a wheelchair."

THE GUN with which Garvas was shot was reportedly recovered. Slugs in the gun allegedly matched the wound in the victim's back and ballistics tests were said to have matched the slug found after it exited Garvas' chest.

Oxandabourne said that Graves' original story was that a small man of Latin descent had barged into his home while he was talking to Garvas. The man shot Garvas and robbed him of $2,500, Graves had told detectives.

Graves managed to get to a house across the street where a neighbor called the sheriff's department and an ambulance, Oxandabourne said.

Lead danger seen in 200,000 soup bowls

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Ohio manufacturer said Friday it would send a refund to the purchasers of 200,000 promotional soup bowls which the Food and Drug Administration says may contain cadmium and lead.

Edward Willis, president of Americana Art China Co. of Sebring, Ohio, said his company has a computerized list of all recipients and will send a refund and a notice to destroy the bowls.

The Food and Drug Administration said Friday it was testing the bowls and expected the results to be available today.

Campbell Soup Co., which sponsored the three-month promotion last fall, refused comment Friday.

The personalized bowls were sent by Americana to consumers who took advantage of Campbell's offer by mailing in two soup can labels and 75 cents.

Chinese fallout rains on U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission said Friday that radioactive fallout from China's Jan. 7 nuclear bomb test has been detected in 16 U.S. states.

It identified radioactive particles found in air samples as fission products including Radioiodine-131, which "is of primary health significance because of its tendency to concentrate in the thyroid gland."

The AEC said that the radiation dose to the general population from the Chinese fallout was "less than 1 per cent of the annual amount received from natural background radiation."

It said the atmospheric radioactivity "is expected to decay and dissipate within the next several weeks to levels which cannot be detected by the sampling network."

It was found at 16 air sampling stations in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, Utah, and Wyoming.

Harris says ex-FTC chief aids Coke in monopoly bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., said Friday a former chairman of the Federal Trade Commission is lobbying actively in Congress on behalf of the Coca-Cola Co. and other soft drink firms charged with monopolistic practices by the FTC.

Harris said Earl Kintner, FTC chairman under President Eisenhower, and now an attorney in Washington, is aiding in the effort to find a senator to sponsor the repeal of anti-trust restrictions for the soft drink industry.

Testifying before the Senate's Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, Harris said he considers the lobbying campaign and the use of Kintner "a blatant example of the power of big corporations."

Kintner, in a telephone interview, said his law firm represents the National Soft Drink Association and not the Coca-Cola company, or any other large company.

Last July 15, Harris said the FTC issued complaints against Coca-Cola and six other soft drink companies

Federal Trade Commission charging violation of the Act. The complaints alleged that because of enforced geographic limits on competition and excessive spending on advertising, the soft drink industry is a shared monopoly in which Coca-Cola has one quarter of the market and the top four companies alone have 70 per cent of it.

Free Movies and Cartoons for Kids This Weekend

This Saturday and Sunday, kids can enjoy a generous sample of the great fun that goes on all the time at Tara Hill Apartments. This weekend there will be free movies, Laurel and Hardy. And popular cartoons. There will be a clown and balloons. The Tara Hill playground will be open to all kids, and supervised. Then, while the kids are laughing, parents may enjoy a cup of coffee in the Tara Hill model apartment office. You might even like to look at the billiards, physical fitness room and the swimming pool. Then visit Tara Hill's spectacular 2 or 3 bedroom apartments including magnificent split levels.

And if you decide to rent at Tara Hill this weekend, you'll receive a generous moving allowance, up to $150. Remember, the fun will be happening from 9 AM to 9 PM Saturday and Sunday at Tara Hill—Cypress on Moody Street just South of Lincoln between Pioneer and Valley View.

Hughes bio hoax?

for publication by McGraw-Hill and Life magazine, a subsidiary of Time, Inc., and was based on material that Irving said he had collected in what he described as 100 secret meetings with the eccentric industrialist.

On Thursday, both McGraw-Hill and Life announced they would defer publication of the Hughes material pending the outcome of an investigation into the disputed Swiss bank account said to be that of Hughes.

Three checks totaling $650,000 were reportedly paid to Hughes in return for the material given to Irving.

In an affidavit filed in court, Irving has said that he personally hand-delivered two checks to Hughes. The third check, he said in the affidavit, was given by him to a man he identified as George Gordon Holmes, whom he said he knew as, a "trusted and bona fide associate of Mr. Hughes."

For his part, Hughes, or a voice identified by newsmen who knew him as being that of Hughes, said in a telephone interview Jan. 7, that he did not know Irving and had never received any money from McGraw-Hill.

Aides to the industrialist said last week that they had asked the Internal Revenue Service in a letter to make an investigation of where the funds went.

The transcript of the letter from the Swiss Credit Bank was addressed to Dr. Hans Huesy, a Swiss lawyer engaged by the Hughes interests. Its contents were telephoned to New York early Friday. The transcript read as follows:

"We, Swiss Credit Bank, Zurich, herewith confirm that the following checks:

"(1) Certified check on Bankers Trust Company, No. 16561, dated April 15, 1971, order H. R. Hughes in the amount of $50,000;

"(2) Check by McGraw-Hill, Inc., No. 110886, dated Sept. 22, 1971, in the amount of $275,000 drawn on the Chase Manhattan Bank, order H. R. Hughes;

"(3) Check by McGraw-Hill, Inc., No. 111112, dated Dec. 2, 1971, in the amount of $325,000 drawn on the Chase Manhattan Bank, order H. R. Hughes, were not cashed by Mr. Howard R. Hughes, the owner of the Hughes Tool Company of Houston, Tex., U.S.A., nor were they credited to an account of such Mr. H. R. Hughes, at our bank.

"WE FURTHER confirm that the account No. 320496 at our bank is not held, nor has it ever been held, by such Mr. Howard R. Hughes."

The bank account number referred to in the transcript of the letter was furnished to Hughes' attorneys in the affidavit filed by Irving in describing yet another check that he said Hughes gave him, to be returned to McGraw-Hill.

Both the transcript and the two-page questionnaire were presented to State Supreme Court Justice Gerald P. Cukin at a hearing involving a suit aimed to halt the further distribution of a second book purporting to contain authorized material about Hughes.

The two-page typewritten questionnaire, according to an accompanying affidavit, personally was handed to Hughes by an aide who identified himself as Levar Myler, an employee of the Hughes Tool Company, who said he had been in "close contact" with Hughes for "more than 20 years."

Myler said in his affidavit that he had given the paper containing 12 questions to Hughes at the request of Chester C. Davis, general counsel to Hughes Tool and Hughes' personal attorney.

The affidavit also said that Myler personally had observed Hughes writing the answers and had watched as the industrialist put the fingerprints of his left hand on the first sheet and those of his right hand on the second.

THE QUESTIONNAIRE, which was accompanied by an affidavit by James J. Falibee, who described himself as technical director of Faurot, Inc., a New York City company said to be engaged in "crime detection and identification equipment."

Falibee, who said he had been a member of the New York City Police Department for 22 years assigned as a technician in the police crime laboratory, identified the fingerprints as those of Hughes after comparing them with those already on file on a federal document.

The questionnaire, with the answers in a spidery handwriting, contained such questions as, "did you at any time authorize McGraw-Hill or Clifford Irving or anyone other than Rosemont (the company set up by Mr. Hughes to act as a repository for autobiographical materials) to publish your autobiography or biography or any material relating to you? This does not relate to copyrighted magazine articles you permitted to be published prior to 1960."

THE ANSWER said: "No. I would like to see these forgeries."

The questionnaire also posed this query: "When is the last time you personally endorsed a check for any reason?"

"More than 10 years ago," was the scrawled reply.

Another query asked, "Did you ever give McGraw-Hill, Clifford Irving or anyone else instructions of any kind relating to the publication of anything concerning you?"

The answer was "absolutely not."

Spokesmen for both companies described Ackerman's "imposter" theory as "interesting," but clearly disassociated themselves from it.

Compton man guilty in L.B. knife slaying

A Compton machinist Friday was convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying last Sept. 19 of a 39-year-old Long Beach man.

The defendant, James Johnson Jr., was on parole for a 1965 knife murder and assault at the time David L. Davis was slain in front of the victim's home at 713 E. 17th St.

Permit OK'd for 60-story bank

A building permit for what would be Los Angeles' tallest building, a 60-story headquarters for United California Bank in downtown Los Angeles, was granted Friday by the Department of Building and Safety.

The $50-million office building, located at 707 Wilshire Blvd., will top the twin towers of Atlantic Richfield Plaza by eight stories, extending 841 feet skyward.

The jury returned the verdict to Long Beach Superior Court Judge Thomas E. McCarty after deliberating more than five hours. The trial's penalty phase began immediately, and the jurors heard evidence about the 1965 crimes for which Johnson was convicted.

After presentation of the penalty evidence was completed, McCarty recessed the hearing until 10 a.m. Monday, when the defense and prosecution are scheduled to give closing arguments. The state has asked the death sentence.

Johnson, of 130 E. Palmer Ave., was paroled from prison last May 31. In the 1965 cases he pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the slaying of Irvin Charles "Zico" Harris, of 1852 Olive Ave., and to assault with a deadly weapon in the wounding of Kohn Wesley Applewhite, 25, of 2303 Webster Ave.

Nixon's satellite link for Peking trip tested

EL SEGUNDO — Technicians completed tests Friday on a communications satellite ground station that will be shipped to China to become President Nixon's link with home during his visit there next month.

When erected in Peking, the ground station will directly connect the Chinese and U.S. telephone systems for what is believed to be the first time, officials of Hughes Aircraft Corp. said. Hughes built the $1.5-million station and Western Union International will coordinate its operation in China.

PRESIDENT Nixon's visit to China is scheduled for Feb. 21-28, including side trips from Peking, the Chinese capital, to Hangchow and Shanghai.

All communications with the United States during the visit, including news media and television broadcasts, will be transmitted from the ground station to an Intelsat communications satellite in a synchronous orbit over the Pacific Ocean, then to a ground station at Jamesburg, Calif., south of San Francisco.

The Chinese have no facilities to use the satellites. "We're going as self-contained as we possibly can make it and we think we understand how we'll interface into the Chinese telephone system," said Lou Greenbaum, a Hughes official.

Hughes and Western Union officials said China has contracted them for the station and will pay all costs associated with its use. But they declined to estimate how much that might be. The station will be returned to the United States at the end of February.

The station will be able to handle 60 telephone circuits and one color television circuit. The Chinese are expected to lease part of these facilities to the news media.

WHAT IF a situation arises during the visit when President Nixon or his aides must confer with Washington about matters of national security?

"The White House provides its own equipment. All we do is connect their copper wires to our copper wires," Greenbaum said.

39 AF cadets guilty in cheating scandal

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — The number of cadets found guilty in the Academy's third cheating scandal within a decade increased to 39 Friday and a school spokesman said officials have also turned up evidence of marijuana smoking among the cadets.

Twenty-three more student flyers at the nation's youngest military academy were implicated Friday, turned in their shoulder boards and left school for violating the following Academy honor code:

"We will not lie, cheat, or steal nor tolerate among us those who do."

Not all of the cadets were found guilty of cheating. Some knew about it but failed to report it as required, by the honor code. Four were found guilty of smoking marijuana.

Academy Superintendent Lt. Gen. Albert P. Clark said 75 cadets were implicated in the latest scandal at the Academy but only 40 were required to go before the honor board composed of fellow cadets. Thirty-nine of the 40 were "found guilty by their peers and have submitted resignations," a spokesman said.

Col. Arthur S. Ragan, information director at the service academy, said 27 cadets violated one or more provisions of the honor code which prohibit lying, stealing and cheating. Twelve were found guilty of tolerating known honor code violations.

At least three cadets cheated on an economic examination, Ragan said. One cadet took the test then revealed test questions to others who took the exam later.

Four cadets were found to have been smoking marijuana and seven others are under investigation for the same offense. All but two of the 11 cadets linked to the marijuana use were among the 39 found guilty of honor code violations.

Judge OKs disputed Navy exercise in Maine's park

PORTLAND, Maine — A federal judge refused Friday to bar the Navy from landing 900 Marines at Reid State Park in an amphibious exercise called "Snowy Beach."

An ad hoc group had sought an injunction against the exercise, saying the seashore park at Georgetown would be seriously damaged by the landing and bivouac.

THE RULING by U.S. Dist. Judge Edward T. Gignoux came as 33 ships of the U.S. 2nd Fleet steamed through the Gulf of Maine, in preparation to helicopters and landing craft putting the Marines ashore today. The maneuvers that include "Snowy Beach" are designed to test new cold-weather military techniques.

Gignoux wrote that the complainant had failed to show that the exercise would significantly affect "the quality of the human environment" at the park.

He also expressed the opinion the Navy showed "full good faith" in planning the landing.

Adm. Charles K. Duncan, commander-in-chief of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet, said after the decision:

"The U.S. Atlantic Fleet is pleased to be able to continue with this critically important cold weather exercise. As noted before, the young American servicemen participating in the landing will take every precaution to preserve the environment of Reid State Park."

The schedule called for the Marines to start coming ashore about 7:30 a.m. Saturday. Most of them would be delivered by helicopters from the carrier Guadalcanal.

THE CARRIER Franklin D. Roosevelt and the guided missile cruisers Newport News and Albany are among the ships that will stay well offshore — far out of sight from land.

The plans called for the Marines to bivouac in the park for four days.

An ad hoc group called "Citizens for Reid State Park" brought the injunction suit before Gignoux.

3rd class postal rate hike put off-as court ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Service, stymied by federal court action, Friday postponed indefinitely a temporary third class postal rate hike scheduled to take effect Monday that would have brought in some $2.5 million in extra revenue each week.

The postponement complied with a Jan. 14 ruling by U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart of the District of Columbia who said the Postal Service lacked authority to modify or revise temporary postal rates.

THE GOVERNMENT has appealed to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, but it has yet to act. The service said it had to revise the rate increase by Friday at the latest to advise some 30,000 post offices of the change.

As a result, third class rates will stay at their present rate of 4.2 cents per piece in bulk mailings until May 16, 1971, unless the court or the five-member Postal Rate Commission act on the Postal Service's request for permanent rate increases.

The Postal Service wanted to jump third class rates, used primarily for advertising material, to 5 cents per piece Monday instead of spreading the increase over the next four years in increments of 0.2 of a cent as it had originally announced.

Simon rips regents on Isla Vista

United Press International

Industrialist Norton Simon walked out of the afternoon meeting of the University of California Board of Regents Friday after an item affecting Isla Vista was removed from the agenda.

In another development, the regents voted down a proposal to increase faculty salaries five per cent for six months, with the money to come from special regents' funds.

SIMON told newsmen the board had been scheduled to consider in a public session the agenda item dealing with the purchase of land for a park in the student community adjacent to UC Santa Barbara.

He said the decision to purchase the land was made during an earlier executive session and the matter taken off the public agenda.

He said the secret session was improper and held so the public would not question the regents about poor conditions in the community.

"I have never seen a more abusing thing that's being done to students at Santa Barbara, the people of Isla Vista and the people of the State of California," Simon said.

He admitted he had not attended the executive session at which the decision was taken. Simon said he based his comments on a transcript of the proceedings.

The faculty salary matter resulted in an unusual switch of positions on the part of Gov. Reagan and UC President Charles J. Hitch.

THE PROPOSAL, presented by Regent Glenn Campbell, was for a five per cent salary increase for the period from Jan. 1 to June 30 of 1972. The $4.5-million cost would be paid out of various funds, including a special reserve account established by the regents last September.

Hitch warned, however, that using such money would establish a dangerous precedent because the state is supposed to pay faculty salaries.

Hitch sided with the opponents of the proposal and Reagan voted in favor, saying he enjoyed being on the side "of giving money for a change." The proposal, however, was defeated.

Davis hits 'recycling' of felons

Associated Press

Los Angeles Police Chief Edward M. Davis asserted Friday that the courts are to blame for a sharp rise in the state's crime rate in recent years.

In an open letter to Superior Court judges, Davis said that the courts are paroling an increasing percentage of convicted felons, who then go on to commit more crimes.

"Some people have even indicted our society for this increase in crime, saying we have become a violence-prone and criminal society," Davis said.

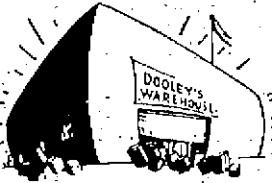

"WHAT HAS really happened is the recycling of convicted felons almost immediately back out onto the streets of California."

Davis said that 10 years ago about 30 per cent of convicted felons received state prison terms. Since then, he said, the rate has declined each year, until the present rate is only 6 per cent for felons convicted in the city of Los Angeles.

IF THE rate went back up to 20 per cent, Davis said, "We could cut our crime rate by 50 per cent in two years." Davis acknowledged that prisons have not been successful at rehabilitating criminals. "Certainly most prisoners come out probably worse than when they went in," he said.

State of Union rebuttals Demos return to campaign

Associated Press

After a campaign break to hear President Nixon urge nonpartisan action on his legislative program, Democrats were back on television and in various primary election states Friday in their effort to replace him in the White House.

In a nationally televised rebuttal to Nixon's State of the Union address, leading Democrats said the administration has failed to deal adequately with domestic problems and has prolonged the Vietnam war.

For the Republicans, party chairman Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, called for a congressional inquiry into the origins of the Vietnam war that, he said, would incriminate several of Nixon's potential rivals in the November election.

The so-called Pentagon Papers published last summer have apparently become a dead issue, Dole told a GOP meeting in Washington.

"We must not permit to be buried the origins of this terrible war," he said.

Dole named Democratic Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts as having once supported U.S. military efforts in Vietnam.

But, Dole said, "They have kept up a constant flow of crocodile tears for the last three years in the obvious hope that the American people would forget the sordid role they played in deliberately plunging us into the Vietnam quagmire."

However, Dole said, the public "will not forget that it was the so-called intellectuals of the Eastern establishment who plunged this nation into war and economic ruin."

Dole went on to recount how U.S. troop strength in Vietnam has been slashed during the past three years under the Nixon administration.

Muskie, Humphrey and other Democratic presidential contenders had been in Washington Thursday to hear Nixon's State of the Union address, then quickly criticized it and Nixon's record over the past three years.

Two other Republicans, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, supported the President amid Democratic criticism.

Goldwater accused Democratic candidates of reaching "an all-time low" with their criticism of Nixon's Vietnam policy. "Now, no matter how they attack the President, they cannot obscure two things," Goldwater said. "First, the fact that they are responsible for Vietnam, and second, the fact that Richard Nixon is responsible for acting to bring that war to a close."

Ford said it was "inexcusable" for the Democrats to criticize Nixon's civil rights record. Ford said the Kennedy-Johnson administrations left much for Nixon to do in the field, and he added that "no president has put together a civil rights record to match the one President Nixon has achieved."

Friday the candidates were meeting voters again: Senator Muskie in New Hampshire; Humphrey, McGovern and Henry M. Jackson of Washington in Florida, and New York Mayor John Lindsay in Florida.

But the thrust of the Democratic anti-Nixon campaign Friday was at television studios in Washington, where party congressional leaders responded to Nixon's speech.

Four senators and five House members discussed crime, the economy, the cities, Vietnam and other issues, then fielded telephone calls from around the country in a stated effort to get a line on public opinion prior to writing the party's platform at the convention this summer.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okl., made a direct reply to Nixon's call Thursday for partnership with the Democratic Congress to withstand the pressures of an election year.

"Cooperation is a two-way street," Albert said. "We're going to cooperate with President Nixon on everything that is in the national interest."

"We call upon the President simultaneously to quit vetoing bills that are in the national interest."

In other political developments:

— In Tallahassee, Fla., Lindsay challenged Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace to a television debate.

Wallace, who is campaigning for the March 14 Florida primary, "stands for everything wrong in this country," Lindsay told a cheering high school audience. Mississippi civil rights leader Charles Evers accompanied Lindsay Friday.

— Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., was in Chicago campaigning for the March 21 Illinois primary. Her schedule included a ghetto tour, news conferences and television taping sessions.

— Humphrey chastised Muskie's practice of continually announcing endorsements by various political figures. Humphrey, who had plenty of his own endorsements in his 1968 White House bid said in Washington: "I'm a big enough shot myself" to campaign for the presidency on his own. He then left for a weekend in Florida and North Carolina.

— Republican challenger to Nixon, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California, became the first formal entrant for the Rhode Island primary, saying in Providence "I feel considerable despair and dismay" over Nixon's policies, particularly on the war.

— Jackson told a news a running mate in his bid he would accept a black as conference in Miami that for the presidency. "To deny qualified persons the chance to seek such national office is indulging in the politics of exclusion," said Jackson. # Nonpartisan claim derided PW group tied to GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Republican National Committee has quietly provided fundraising assistance to the largest organization of imprisoned and missing U.S. servicemen, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., disclosed Friday.

The organization, the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, has been under fire from some non-member relatives of PWs who charged that the league's leadership was a "pawn" of the administration.

Aspin released to UPI two memoranda, both dated April 17, 1971, detailing an arrangement under which the Republican National Finance Committee, the GOP's money-raising arm, made available to the league its prized mailing list of contributors.

In addition, the documents revealed that the GOP unit provided the league with detailed tips on solicitation techniques.

Aspin said the fund-raising help, plus a Nov. 16, 1971, letter from a GOP official suggesting a vote against an administration-opposed end-the-war amendment, effectively shattered the organization's claim to be nonpartisan and non-political.

"In light of the political and financial aid that the league received from the Republican Party, it is now clear why their positions were identical," Aspin said in a letter to Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., Republican national chairman.

Aspin accused the GOP of the "cheapest form of political manipulation" and called on Dole to "stop this unconscionable manipulating of the PW families."

MRS. EVELYN Grubb, the league's national coordinator, vigorously denied the conclusions Aspin drew from the documents. Mrs. Grubb said that in April of 1971 both the Republican and Democratic national committees were asked by the league for help.

In a telephone interview, she quoted from an April 22, 1971, letter to the league from the Democratic National Committee rejecting the appeal for two reasons — it had its own "financial problem" and it was party policy not to make available its mailing list of contributors, regardless of the cause.

As to the letter on the antiwar amendment, Mrs. Grubb acknowledged that it in view of the controversy it stirred it probably was a mistake. But she still insists it probably did not violate a league policy against taking stands on legislation.

At its national convention here last September, the league soundly rejected an effort by members critical of administration policy to amend the group's charter so that it could "go political" and lobby for end-the-war measures.

Following that action, President Nixon made a surprise and triumphant appearance at the convention's closing banquet.

In November, Mrs. Grubb sent a letter to opponents of an amendment by Rep. Edward Boland, D-Mass., that would have cut off all funds for the war in Indochina after June 1, 1972, subject only to the release of PWs and an accounting of the missing.

Mrs. Grubb said in her letter that the league was "not in agreement" with Boland or Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., sponsor of another antiwar provision.

You never leave Big Brake with a bad taste in your mouth.

The $34.00 lining.

This is the best. Here we use the premium Bendix riveted lining that holds up even under toughest driving conditions like we have here in Southern California.

If you do lots of freeway or stop-and-go driving, or if you plan to keep your car for more than 20,000 miles, take the $34.00 lining. In the long run it saves you money. We guarantee this lining for 40,000 miles.

Incidentally, we "are grind" your new linings at no charge for the best fit with your drums. We do all we can to make you happy so you'll talk nice about us behind our backs.

Truck driver's secret.

One of the most neglected parts of a brake system are the return springs. These are what push your pedal back and also keep your linings off the brake drum when your foot is off the pedal.

Truck drivers will tell you that weak springs are the cause of big trouble in their rigs — pulling, diving, excessive wear and drum scoring.

If brake springs are worn, we charge you $2.25 per wheel to put on new ones. And $2.25 per wheel to replace front-wheel grease-retainer seals that can wear out and cause damage to the new linings.

You can't beat our drums.

True your drums, Sir?

Don't get the idea that you can just skip on new linings. Linings will last much longer if you let us do three important things:

(1) "Machine" the drums to get rid of rough spots and scratches.

(2) "True" the drums so the linings will make perfect contact and wear evenly.

(3) Rebuild the wheel cylinders so they won't leak fluid all over the new lining and ruin it.

We offer a special package price to take care of all this.

Packages save you $$.

Look at our price list. You can buy our services one at a time or in a package. Get the package. It saves you money, time and worry.

Our best policy.

Honesty, of course. When you come to our shop you'll see all prices written on the walls — sort of like fiscal graffiti. In case you don't get in this week, here's a step-by-step breakdown of what our brake charges buy you.

Free inspection.

When you push the pedal and nothing happens, or something goofy happens, we hope you'll come to us. There is no charge for inspection and no obligation.

You'll be surprised at how thorough our free inspection is. We look at the complete brake system and even road test your car.

If we find something wrong, we tell you. If you tell us to fix it, then, and only then, do we go to work. One of the reasons we ask you to stick around is so you can see that when we pull the drums we aren't trying to pull a fast one on you. We'd much rather have you peering over our shoulder than glaring at us over the bill.

By the way, it's a good rule for you to know that if your car is about two years old, chances are 50/50 you need new brake linings right now.

And, since most cars are over two years old, let's talk about linings.

We give you something special to take away with you — all your old, worn out parts. Why? Because we know, and you know, that nobody trusts anybody in the car repair business. Sad, but true.

We have nothing to hide.

So we put all your worn parts in a sack for you. That way your wife can take them to an office of the Highway Patrol or any Official Brake Inspection Station and satisfy herself (and you, perhaps) that what we did really needed doing. We call it our "nothing-to-hide" sack.

If you take away your old brake shoes, we have to charge a $2 deposit, like on pop bottles. You get your $2 back when we get the shoes back.

What makes us so confident? Because we are experts. When it comes to brake repair, we are the Mozart of discs and drums. And we got that way by doing more — more than 25,000 jobs every year.

No surprises.

We'd like to show you just how expert we are. In fact, if you have the time, we invite you to stick around and watch us work. Also, that way there won't be any surprises, no quick phone calls saying we have to put in a new master cylinder. Or that your imported baby needs a new pair of shoes.

Is it inevitable that a brake job always ends up costing more than you expected? Not inevitable, but it's fairly common. And with good reason.

By the way, it's a good rule for you to know that if your car is about two years old, chances are 50/50 you need new brake linings right now.

And, since most cars are over two years old, let's talk about linings.

We give you something special to take away with you — all your old, worn out parts. Why? Because we know, and you know, that nobody trusts anybody in the car repair business. Sad, but true.

We have nothing to hide.

So we put all your worn parts in a sack for you. That way your wife can take them to an office of the Highway Patrol or any Official Brake Inspection Station and satisfy herself (and you, perhaps) that what we did really needed doing. We call it our "nothing-to-hide" sack.

If you take away your old brake shoes, we have to charge a $2 deposit, like on pop bottles. You get your $2 back when we get the shoes back.

What makes us so confident? Because we are experts. When it comes to brake repair, we are the Mozart of discs and drums. And we got that way by doing more — more than 25,000 jobs every year.

No surprises.

We'd like to show you just how expert we are. In fact, if you have the time, we invite you to stick around and watch us work. Also, that way there won't be any surprises, no quick phone calls saying we have to put in a new master cylinder. Or that your imported baby needs a new pair of shoes.

Is it inevitable that a brake job always ends up costing more than you expected? Not inevitable, but it's fairly common. And with good reason.

Don't blame the system.

Blame your right foot. It shouldn't come as a surprise to you that your brakes, like most other things in life, aren't always what they seem to be.

3 new drugs to fight asthma on sale soon

By BEN ZINSER
Medical Science Editor

Three promising new drugs for asthma patients are expected to be made available for general prescription in the United States in the near future, a medical specialist said in Long Beach Friday.

Dr. Douglas C. Heiner, speaking to pediatricians in a lecture at St. Mary's Hospital, predicted that one of the new drugs, disodium cromoglycate, may be released for use this year.

Heiner, chief of the division of immunology and allergy at Harbor General Hospital, said that disodium cromoglycate is already available in Canada and several other countries.

It helps two-thirds of asthmatics to whom given, he reported.

In addition, it makes possible a reduction in the use of other drugs that can be dangerous — compounds such as cortisone-like drugs and one known as Isuprel.

Disodium cromoglycate is also known as cromolyn, sodium and by the trade name Intal. It comes in powder form and is sniffed through the nostrils.

Heiner said that a "very potent" antiasthma drug called Salbutamol will probably be available in this country "in another year or so."

This compound is already being used in Japan and England and can be administered by mouth, as an aerosol mist, or by intramuscular or intravenous injection, Heiner said.

Also expected to be available soon is a compound called metaproterenol, or Alupent, the doctor said. It is taken by mouth or by aerosol and has a longer-lasting effect than certain other antiasthma drugs.

Heiner said that five per cent of the population suffers from asthma.

"It is the biggest cause of loss of time from school," he noted.

He cited one case of susceptibility that causes wheezing in a young man every time he enters a food market.

"He's sensitive to wheat — exquisitely sensitive," Heiner said. "His mother can't even keep wheat flour in the house."

He discussed other degrees of sensitivity that result in asthma attacks. Some persons, he said, get asthma when they drive on a freeway.

The first step in asthma control, he said, is to attempt to change the environmental factor that causes the asthma attack.

Briefly ... That number 1 topic, and WASPs defended

By LES RODNEY

The phenomenon of the Jesus Movement continues to be a topic of high interest and much analysis. The Religion Writers of America have just voted it the outstanding religion story of 1971 (yes, that was my vote in the balloting.)

Here are some rather provocative thoughts on the phenomenon in a sermon preached by Rev. Arthur F. Suetz in Lakewood First Presbyterian Church.

"Suddenly there's a Jesus movement loose in our land. Most of it started outside of all the churches, among many of our younger people. Somehow all the churches of whatever brand seem to have lost contact with an emerging culture among many of our young people. A cultural life-style that may threaten me, but apparently does not threaten Jesus. Because all at once, he seems at home among these ball-bombed, bearded, long-haired, Gospel rock, street-walking, commune-living people.

"Yes, there are dangers in the movement. Dangers of biblical literalism, rigid fundamentalism, legalistic life-styles, high emotionalism, native Jesusology, anti-intellectualism, mysticism and a kind of rootless existentialism. Yet every period of religious renewal has had its excesses and its extremes. That happened in the first century at Corinth.

But today, no one can ignore that somehow without any highly organized, evangelistic crusade, with out any bureaucratic church program sent down from denominational headquarters, somehow Jesus got loose among many of our young people. Apparently, if he cannot get to them in conventional ways, He'll use unconventional ways."

IN ANOTHER angle on the same much-discussed topic, UPI religion writer Louis Cassels says that the institutional church is responsible for the existence of the Jesus Movement which scorns it.

"The church," he writes, "may have done a woefully inadequate job of proclaiming this message (the Good News of Jesus). But with all of its shortcomings, it has kept alive the memory of Jesus. Had it not done so, there would be no 'Jesus Movement' today."

"Some participants in the movement may challenge this," saying they look not to the institutional church but to the Bible for their knowledge of Jesus and His teaching," Cassels continues. "But they overlook a basic fact. The Bible did not produce the church. The church produced the Bible. It is one of the ways — the principal way perhaps but certainly not the only way — in which the church has done its job of transmitting the message from generation to generation and from land to land."

"If Jesus still has power to draw all kinds of people to Him — as the 'Jesus Movement' proves he does — the church has not altogether failed in its mission. Critics who would write it off as 'irrelevant' should ask themselves how the indispensable job of transmission could be accomplished except through a structured, ongoing community — in short, through an institution."

beyond our need for scapegoats and stereotypes."

THREE-FOURTHS of the readers replying to a poll in "Response," national magazine for United Methodist women, believe they can be patriotic, while not supporting the U.S. government position in Vietnam.

Other findings in the "Vietnam Opinion Poll," scheduled for publication in the February issue:

Though a majority, 55 per cent, think President Nixon is doing "everything possible to end the war," 73 per cent also feel he should cut down on the bombings, which may seem like contradictory figures to some. Almost no respondents would support military acts to protest the war, but 60 per cent would be sympathetic to a son who became a conscientious objector against the war.

The answers split right down the middle on whether they would hold a soldier individually responsible for his acts in a My Lai-type situation. A slight majority, 56 per cent, believe that the United Methodist Church should take an official stand on the war.

Report by President's committee Environment may cause retardation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The President's Committee on Mental Retardation said Friday that cleaning up the nation's environment could help reduce mental retardation.

Noting that 6-million Americans suffer from mental retardation, the 21-member panel said "elements of the environment not only affect their lives, but often are the agents that cause them to be retarded."

"Where the incidence of mental retardation is abnormally high, there is also an unusually high rate of malnutrition, illness, unsanitary conditions, inadequate housing, accidents, lack of health care and education, and the pervading apathy of poverty," the commission told President Nixon in its fifth annual report.

The report urged Nixon to ask the nation's universities to develop academic programs for human ecology that would pool the knowledge of specialists in biological and social sciences with the aim of preventing environmentally caused retardation.

"Based on the concept of human ecology, the approach focuses on the social conditions in which retardation is bred and thrives," said Elliot L. Richardson, Health, Education and Welfare secretary and chairman of the commission.

In a letter accompanying the report, Richardson cited poor health care among Indians, lack of equal educational opportunity for all children and lead poisoning as other causes of mental retardation.

The report placed the cost of mental retardation to the nation at more than $5.6 billion a year, based on productivity loss and cost of services for those afflicted.

The committee called lead poisoning of slum children "a completely preventable disease" that can cause retardation. It said a study of 425 children in Chicago who were treated for lead poisoning showed that 39 per cent had some kind of brain damage; 54 per cent had recurrent seizures; 38 per cent were mentally retarded; and 13 per cent had cerebral palsy.

Between 5 and 10 per cent of young children in Boston's slums are harboring undetected lead poisoning, the panel said. It called them "walking time bombs" and said an illness of infection could light the fuse, causing death or retardation.

The report urged Nixon to start a lead-poisoning prevention program as authorized by Congress in 1971, including the renovation of slum houses where lead-based paint peeling off walls can poison children.

For Sunday's Celebration of Unity 'They sing same words, worship same Lord...'

By LES RODNEY

The strains of the title number from "Jesus Christ Superstar" sounded from somewhere in the background as Robert Dill answered the phone at Poly High, where he is the instrumental music teacher and directs the orchestra for the past 14 years.

He is also minister of music at Covenant Presbyterian Church, and coordinator of the combined Roman Catholic-Protestant choir for Sunday's Celebration of Christian Unity in Municipal Auditorium.

It was the latter we wanted to chat with him about. How do the rehearsals go? What are some of the problems in whipping together a choir for a one-shot ecumenical occasion?

"IT'S GOING pretty good," he replied. "The problems are the ones you have to expect trying to bring together people from seven churches at the time they can all make it. But the enthusiasm and excitement are just great. We're getting there."

The choir consists of volunteers from young people's choirs (about 15 years old through college age) at Holy Innocent, St. Anthony and St. Cornelius Catholic churches, Covenant Presbyterian, Los Altos and California Heights

Methodist and St. Luke's Baptist.

How do they hit it off? Is there any feeling of strangeness between young Catholics and young Protestants, or is that pretty much a thing of the past?

"Young people are more naturally ecumenical," Dill said. "Oh, when they met at first, there was a bit of social timidity, but then they find they sing the same words, use the same notes on the guitars, worship the same Lord."

"These kids, after all, have grown up in a generation of ecumenicity."

In brief, if someone walked in on a rehearsal, he wouldn't have any clue that they weren't all members of the same church.

Musically, the teacher explained, the task is to get a style that is uniform from among members of seven groups which have their own individuality.

THE COMBINED choir will present five songs, interspersed through the program. Are the songs all familiar to all the participants?

"No, as a matter of fact the Lord's Prayer, in a setting from the folk mass 'Rejoice', is new to most of them," Dill said. "But they're quick to learn."

They will also sing "It's a Brand New World," "My Sweet Lord," "Oh Happy Day" and "Put Your Hand in the Hand."

Final rehearsal will be held Saturday morning at the Auditorium. And what kind of robes will the choir wear Sunday?

"We'll be in casual dress."

What's the thinking behind that?

"Wearing different robes from each church will tend to separate us, rather than unify us. This is about unity."

THE SERVICE, a second annual pioneering event in Long Beach, coincident with the national Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, will begin at 3 p.m. in the Concert Hall, with no admission charged. It is planned to end by 4:15.

Scheduled are an entry procession of "Long Beach Protestant and Catholic clergy, words of welcome by Mayor Wade, moments of meditation from the Old and New Testaments read by a Catholic and Protestant layman, "Witness to Our Unity in Christ" with Rt. Rev. Msgr. Ernest Gualdron of St. Anthony and Rev. J. Curtis Foster of Grant Chapel A.M.E., plus churchmen, church women and young people; the Apostles Creed, an original Litany of Joy and Unity, and a prayer of commitment led by a youth.

Other ministers and lay leaders who will take part in the program include Naval Station Chaplain John A. Pirto, Rev. Samuel Hall of St. Luke's Episcopal, Rev. Lawrence Triesch of Holy Innocent's, Mrs. Eunice Sato of Silverado United Methodist (new president of the local Council of Churches), Rev. Byron Lee of Willow Street Church of God, Dr. Richard Nixon of First Baptist and Rev. Dr. H. David Burcham of Covenant Presbyterian.

The prayer of commitment, symbolizing the spirit of the occasion, is: "We accept our calling to make visible our unity in Christ. We commit ourselves to serve one another in love, not only in word, but in deed. In the coming year we will strengthen our efforts for common action, prayer and worship. Come, Holy Spirit, help us in this task. Amen."

$16 million debt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco says it is nearly $16 million in debt and that "the widely rumored material wealth of the Church is a myth."

Archbishop Joseph McGuinness said the archdiocese has declared a moratorium on new building and appealed for "generosity" from parishioners.

N.Y. churches 'adopt' 1500 inmates of Brooklyn prison

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

A group of 30 Protestant and Catholic churches in New York City have embarked on a project which should challenge the conscience of every church congregation in every city of America.

Together, they have "adopted" 1,500 prisoners serving time in a Brooklyn prison.

Each participating church provides at least one clergyman who visits the prison at least once a week. The clergyman goes to the particular cellblock assigned to his parish and visits with the inmates, helping them to deal with family problems, or obtain counseling or therapy.

When a prisoner is nearing the time of release, his visiting pastor helps in finding him a job and preparing him for the often traumatic experience of returning to "outside" life.

In addition to these more obvious benefits, the program has two very important effects that are not so readily apparent.

First, prisoners have a sympathetic channel through which they can report any mistreatment they suffer in prison. The very existence of such a contact is regarded by many prisoners as the best possible insurance against brutal or inhumane treatment by guards or wardens.

Second, a prisoner emerges at the end of his sentence, not as a friendless ex-con regarded by society with hostility and suspicion, but as a protégé of America's most respectable institution, the church.

Anyone inclined to question whether this sort of thing is properly part of the church's ministry can find a trenchant answer from the founder himself. In one of his most famous parables (recorded in the 25th chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel), Jesus said that anyone who treats a prisoner with kindness and compassion performs a work of mercy on a par with feeding the hungry, housing the homeless and healing the sick.

There is nothing in the text about the prisoner being a "deserving" type. The only qualification for becoming a proper object of Christian help is that he be in jail.

Perhaps the best thing about the New York City project is that it gives churches a chance to do something about a contemporary social problem.

Free for the course is $38. Two units of college credit may be earned. Formal admission to the college is not required. Further information may be obtained from the Office of Continuing Education, 438-4315.

All too often, churches seem to feel they've been "irrelevantly engaged" in contemporary problems when all they've actually done is talk, pass resolutions, wring their hands, and exhort others to action.

Nearly every town in America has at least one jail and several churches. There is very little excuse for people who attend the latter failing to take an active, personal interest in people who are penned up in the former.

New York churches have set a good example.

Get rid of those invisible crutches

By NORMAN V. PEALE

It seems that many people are depending upon "invisible" crutches to prop up faltering personalities. Faced with deep seated feelings of inferiority and unable to cope with problems, have you ever turned to crutches for temporary relief from that miserable inadequacy feeling? Surely you know that the longer you lean on a personality crutch, the more crippled the personality will become. And such dependence leads only to defeat in the end. What you and I really want is the power to change ourselves, not a crutch that only keeps us as we are.

There is a fascinating psychological story in the Bible about a sick man by the Pool of Bethesda. It was based, on a legend, it seems, that whenever an angel stirred the water in that pool, whoever got in first would be healed. This man had been lying by the pool for years, until he achieved a kind of status among the other invalids.

THIS SERVED as a crutch for his mixed-up personality. He always gave the excuse that he could never get into the water first. The fact was that actually he did not want to be healed, for then he would have to face life. But Jesus Christ bored straight into his consciousness. "Do you really want to be healed?" He demanded. The man squirmed under that direct gaze, but then suddenly felt hope for the first time.

He answered a firm "Yes, I do want to be healed." Then he was told to get to his feet, throw away his crutch, change his mental attitude and really live.

Some disillusioned young people today are trying to escape from life by using drugs as a crutch. But many others are throwing away drugs and other crutches and really learning to live. I recently received a letter from a young serviceman on drugs who did just that. "I would begin an institution today," he writes, "if I had not changed my way of thinking. A positive philosophy put me on the right path and made me see that I was living a real loser's life up to that time. And Jesus Christ is far better than drugs; he never runs out on you." This young man found the power to give up drugs and signs his letter, "A much happier guy."

Another widely used crutch is excessive alcohol. Tragically, this kind of dependence can and often does turn into alcoholism, one of the most acute forms of defeat. But such a person can be cured, once he realizes that the only way to solve his problems is not by drowning them in alcohol, but by a thoroughgoing change in himself.

An alcoholic, divorced from his wife and on the verge of suicide, used to sit alone and drink for hours. "I was a known drunkard," he writes. "It got so bad that even the winos wouldn't associate with me."

Well, one day he wandered into a drugstore and happened to pick up one of my books. He began applying positive-thinking formulas to his life. What a change! Now a dynamic person, active in his community and successful in his job, he writes, "If 1972 brings more blessings than 1971, I'll probably just float away. I do want so much to share with others, who are like what I once was, the knowledge that they, too, can find peace of mind and abundant life."

Alcoholism and drugs are only two crutches; there are many others — overeating, excessive smoking and tranquilizers, to name a few. A woman smoking three packs of cigarettes a day, drinking coffee like it was going out of style, and taking tranquilizers to "steady" her nerves, consulted me. "I am a complete wreck," she said, despondently. "And the doctor tells me that for health reasons I must give up smoking. I've tried to do it before, and nearly went crazy!"

"YOU PROBABLY didn't really want to give it up," I suggested.

"Oh, I certainly did!" she retorted, "but my life was empty without it."

I told her the story of the man at the Pool of Bethesda, and then asked, "How happy are you?" It turned out she was miserable. And besides, she was terribly shy and self-conscious. Since she was unhappy enough to want to do something about it, I gave her some suggestions for throwing away her crutches. She really bought those suggestions. Result? She gave up smoking and tranquilizers, went from a skinny, nervous 90 pounds to 125 pounds, and is now the picture of health and happiness. "Just because I changed my thinking!" she commented some months later. "It's so simple if you really want it!"

"Look, Mommy! She's pat-a-cking!"

GOINGS ON

Mrs. Betty Cooper, former newswoman of the Berkeley Gazette, now P.R. director for the WCTU, travels extensively in behalf of Child Evangelism, will speak at the annual banquet of the Child Evangelism Fellowship Friday, 6:30 p.m. in First Baptist, 10th and Pine. The amazing Mrs. Cooper teaches 10 classes a week and has worked four evenings a week with servicemen. She recently returned from Europe, Israel and Hawaii, where she taught Bible stories to children. Banquet tickets at $1 per person may be reserved through Monday by calling the Child Evangelism office at 424-9731.

Rev. Dr. Fred S. Buschmeyer, who was first secretary of the United Church of Christ from 1961-67, and now is executive at Pilgrim Place for retired Christian workers, in Claremont, will be the preacher Sunday at 9:30 and 11 a.m. in First Congregational, Third and Cedar.

Dr. Merle C. Page, M.D., medical director of the Psychiatric Clinic for Children, will discuss "Conflict Within the Family: Can It Be Creative?" Sunday, 7:30 p.m. as part of the continuing family life series at Lakewood First Presbyterian, 3955 Studebaker Road.

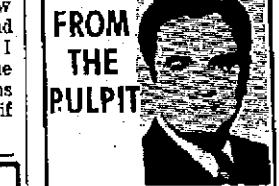

Donald Edwin Bender, well known bass-baritone who is a Long Beach native, and recently returned from a widely acclaimed second concert tour with the Dorothy Wenzelskjold Music Theater, will present a program Sunday, 7 p.m. in First Presbyterian of Westminster, 7702 Westminster Ave., as part of the church's celebration of its 100th birthday. At the piano will be Raymond McPeeters, who has accompanied such as Marian Anderson, Lily Pons, John Charles Thomas. The public is invited.

Presbyterian layman Harris Wilcox, of New York, one of America's top livestock auctioneers, will speak Sunday, 5:30 p.m. in Melodyland Christian Center, Anaheim.

Dr. Stephen A. Hoeller will lecture on "The Psychology of Ultimate Meaning" Sunday, 3 p.m. at Theological Society, 602 Pacific Ave.

TONIGHT

Gospel Concerts will present a program tonight in Municipal Auditorium at 7:30 featuring the Speers, J. D. Sumner and the Stamps Quartet, and others. The Speers have won top honors in the gospel singing field two consecutive years.

Dr. Frank Collins

Where the figures come from, I do not know — but they are on my desk before me. Each day 119,520 people die without having accepted Christ as their personal Saviour.

Why a large church? Why church buses? Why our radio ministry? Why our visitation program? Why our emphasis on missions? And why do people complain, criticize and rebel when we are trying to get people saved? Because the carnal mind is in enmity against God! What a condition of mind! In ENMITY against God!

Therefore, can you trust your own philosophy in matters of salvation? Wouldn't it be safer to find out what God says about these matters?

Each minute 83 people go out of this life unprepared! If YOUR moment came this week, would YOU be prepared? Let us show you what God says about your past condition, your present need and your future hope.

Methodist choir at Temple Israel's 'Sabbath of Song'

On Friday evening Temple Israel will mark Shabbat Sheerah, the Sabbath of Song, with a special musical observance, featuring Maurice Goldman's dramatic cantata "Jerusalem," to be performed by the 40-voice Chancel Choir of California Heights United Methodist Church, and the church's noted soloists.

The cantata was premiered and hailed in Cleveland in 1968. Goldman, a composer, conductor and teacher, former director of choral music at Western Reserve University, is currently director of music for the Bureau of Jewish Education. His numerous choral compositions are well represented in the repertoire of the Roger Wagner Chorale.

The church choir is directed by Robert Collins, who has performed with the New York City Opera Company and has appeared in films and on television.

In addition to the cantata, the program will also present Anita Bard of the Temple Israel Quartet in selections from the musical version of poems conceived in the Terezin Ghetto: "I Never Saw Another Butterfly."

The observance begins at 8:30 in the temple, at Third Street and Loma Avenue.

BAPTISTS HOST YOUNG INDIAN PRESBYTERIANS

Sixteen Indian young people from the Colorado River Tribes Reservation, who make up the Parker Valley United Presbyterian Indian Children's Choir, will appear Sunday, 10:45 a.m. in University Baptist Church, 3434 Chatwin Ave.

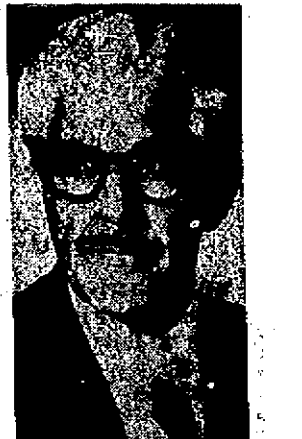

Dressed in authentic tribal costumes representative of their tribes, they will present three selections. They recently took part in the dedication of the London Bridge at Lake Havasu. The young visitors will be overnight guests in homes of church members with children their ages.

The visitors will demonstrate the recently rediscovered International Indian Sign Language.

Clerics will hear Brownlee

Dr. William Hugh Brownlee, noted Biblical scholar and archeologist, will speak to the Long Beach Ministerial Assn. Tuesday noon in the Forum Cafeteria, Lakewood Shopping Center.

He will discuss the relationship of recent Biblical research to modern interpretation of scripture. He is the author of the Ezekiel

'PASTOR B' In Bellflower

Baptist exec. is pastor in Bellflower

Rev. John M. Berentsen, who is serving his second year as president of the Conservative Baptist Assn. of America, has been welcomed as the new pastor of Bellflower Baptist Church, 17456 Downey Ave.

The CBA is composed of some 1,200 Baptist churches. "Pastor B," as he is usually called, was born in Holland and came to this country as a child. He studied at Los Angeles Bible Institute and was with Dr. Charles E. Fuller and the Old Fashioned Revival Hour broadcast for some time, then served churches in five states. He was cited in Colorado's "Who's Who" for his work there. He comes to Bellflower from San Mateo's Calvary Baptist Church.

He recently returned with his wife, Marie, from a missionary tour of Africa, the Holy Land, Turkey and Europe for the Baptist organization. The Berentsens have four children.

Sioux bishop is Episcopal first

— SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — The Rev. Harold Stephen Jones, a Sioux Indian, has been consecrated as suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of South Dakota.

Some 1,000 persons attended the ceremony at St. Joseph Cathedral where the South Dakota-born clergyman became the first American Indian elevated to the office of bishop.

Episcopalians were joined by members of other faiths in witnessing the service, portions of which were conducted in Dakota, an Indian language.

Christian Science

Can religion be practical?

Yes. Christian Scientists practice healing, which we find is a practical proof of God's existence. It's a never-failing law of good. Come to our weekly testimony meetings and hear people tell of healings—how they were accomplished, and what they learned about God as a result. What they say may be helpful to you.

States veto U.S. aid takeover

By LOU CANNON
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — State welfare directors reversed themselves late Friday and went on record opposing a federal takeover of state welfare programs.

The directors had on Thursday rejected a motion by California Welfare Director Robert Carleson to oppose the takeover, as proposed in a pending welfare reform bill.

Carleson's motion, turned down on a 29-11 vote, echoed the belief of California Gov. Ronald Reagan that federal administration of welfare programs would vastly increase their cost and inefficiency.

After the defeat of the Carleson motion some welfare directors met with Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long, D-La., who will have charge of the welfare measure. Long indicated that he favored state administration of welfare, even if the federal government pays the full cost.

However, Long accused President Nixon Friday of holding the elderly as hostages to pressure Congress into passing welfare reform legislation that is nothing more than "a paid subsidy for illegitimacy."

Long said Nixon, late in 1970, ignored his pleas to try to persuade House leaders at least to consider a $7-billion package of benefits approved by the Senate earlier that year.

Long agreed with Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., that Congress should swiftly pass the Social Security and Medicare sections of the bill and leave the "knotty" problem of welfare reform for later.

The directors then voted Friday to name a committee that will work out amendments acceptable to Long, and preserving state administration.

The latest action set the stage for a direct request by Reagan to remove the federal takeover provision. The governor will testify Feb. 1 before a Senate committee that will conduct hearings on the measure, which is backed by Nixon.

The welfare bill, originally known as the Family Assistance Plan, passed the House in 1970 and again in 1971 but failed both times to clear the Senate.

Without formally opposing the entire bill, Reagan has made it clear that he is against two key provisions of the package, the federal takeover and a guaranteed income floor for welfare recipients.

While Reagan is strongly supporting Nixon for reelection and will head the California delegation committed to Nixon, the latest action confirmed that he has not changed his opinion about the Family Assistance Plan.

The welfare plan has been the principal source of domestic criticism issued by Republican conservatives against the Nixon administration. Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, who is challenging the President in the New Hampshire and Florida presidential primaries, has made his differences over the welfare bill one of the prime issues of his campaign.

Conservatives contend that the guaranteed income provisions of the legislation will increase the welfare rolls, rather than reduce them. They also believe that federal administration will result in a less efficient system.

"The notion that the federal government is the most efficient is a myth," Carleson said.

Funds asked for pilot legal services project

SAN FRANCISCO AP — The State Bar of California is applying for $500,000 in federal and state funds to finance a "judicare" experiment.

Under the program, lawyers in private practice would provide legal services to the poor with each eligible person choosing his own lawyer, the State Bar said Friday.

The experiment would operate in the southern portion of Santa Barbara County.

The State Bar's program, under study and development since July 1970, is not linked or related to the California Legal Services Foundation announced last week by Gov. Reagan.

The State Bar's applica-

Cutbacks may close Medi-Cal funded facility

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Cutbacks in Medi-Cal financing may force the closing of San Francisco's Hassler Health Home, Chief Administrative Officer Thomas J. Mellon said Friday.

Mellon and Dr. Francis Curry, health director, plan to reach a decision by Feb. 15. If it is decided to close the facility, the 200 elderly and indigent patients will be transferred to the Laguna Honda Home, they said.

Mellon said the state funded the entire $2.1 million annual budget through Medi-Cal until October 1971. Medical procedures were changed at that time so that, while the state could pay all of a patient's expenses in a hospital, it could pay only 50 per cent in a rest home.

tion to the federal and state Offices of Economic Opportunity seeks $500,000 for an 18-month period.

David K. Robinson, State Bar president, said the first six months would be devoted to establishing the local program and an evaluation system.

"It is important that the lawyers of our state be deeply involved in meeting the legal needs of those with little or no financial means," he said.

"Our experiment is designed to test the effectiveness and efficiency of this most direct kind of involvement," he said.

The statewide foundation program announced by Reagan developed out of his administration's conflict with California Rural Legal Assistance, financed with OEO funds. Reagan contended CRLA staff attorneys were more concerned with fighting his administration than in serving the legal needs of the poor.

L.B. tidelands oil bids to be opened Monday

$3,766,000 bonus payment it offered.

Bids are scheduled to be opened Monday at 2 p.m. in Long Beach City Hall on a new, 17-year drilling and operating contract for Parcel "A" of the tideland oil field.

It will mark the second attempt to get a new contract on the 250-acre Parcel "A," which lies south of Seaside Boulevard, east of Pier A and west of a prolongation of Pine Avenue.

When bids on the new contract were opened on Dec. 8, the apparent high bidder, Powerline Oil Co., proposed an "installment plan" payment of the

THE CITY attorney's office said the bid was "non-responsive," and subsequently advised the council to reject all bids and advertise for new bids.

Atlantic Richfield Co., which submitted the apparent second highest bid on Dec. 8 with a bonus offer of $3,333,333.34, currently holds the original 25-year drilling and operating contract on Parcel "A." It will expire March 28.

The only variable in the bids is the bonus offered. The percentages of revenue are fixed in the contract, with the city to get 91 per cent and the contractor nine per cent, after deduction of operating expenses.

During the 25 years that Atlantic Richfield has operated Parcel "A," it has produced about 95 million barrels of oil, with a net profit to the city and state of about $140 million, according to Leonard W. Brock, city director of oil properties.

Class closures incite action Chicano Head Start demand

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

Members of Long Beach's Chicano community, angered over the unexplained closure of four Head Start classes in East Long Beach, Friday demanded a Head Start program of their own under the city's antipoverty program.

The four classrooms, all at Trinity Baptist Church at 14th Street and Gaviota Avenue, apparently were padlocked Wednesday, then reopened Thursday after a meeting between the director of the city's antipoverty agency and the head of the Community Improvement League's Head Start program.

Mrs. Thelma Beason, who formerly supervised the Head Start operation at Trinity, blamed the closure on Jimmie Swan, who directs the Head Start program for the improvement league. But Swan could not be reached for comment on the closure, nor on the anger it generated among Chicanos, who later drew up a list of 20 demands and presented them to antipoverty director Ed Dienz.

THE ANTIPOVERTY chief, who took over the job last month, said he isn't certain who shut the Trinity Church classrooms, but said he later met with Swan and asked that they be opened. And they were.

The temporary closure triggered a protest meeting of 70 to 80 persons at the East Side Neighborhood Center Thursday afternoon.

Although the classrooms are now open, Mrs. Beason said they're operating on a crisis basis. None of the staff is being paid, she said, and it has also refused to accept meals prepared for the children by a central kitchen operated by the league.

JIMMIE SWAN
In Controversy

Swan said the Chicano group's bilingual approach to the preschool program at Trinity clashed with the league's desire, and is one of the underlying problems in the dispute.

"They fought us from the beginning on the bilingual approach," she said.

Mrs. Beason indicated that the 20 demands are supported by members of MECHA, a Chicano group at California State College at Long Beach; Congress, a self-help Chicano organization, and members of Pinto, a half-way house for ex-convicts.

The demands call primarily for a Chicano-run Head Start site under the direction of Congress or the East Side Neighborhood Center—in effect, a form of ethnic autonomy under the poverty program.

The separatist quality of the demand is evident in many of the others, which include calls for an all-Chicano Head Start staff at Trinity; a separate kitchen, with menus reflecting Chicano culture; a Chicano day care center, and bilingual and bicultural education at the Head Start site.

The Chicanos ask that the Trinity site "be further developed into a Chicano cultural center." They also call for a prenatal and family health clinic, a Chicana (Chicano woman) child care supervisor, a bilingual nurse and social worker, and the testing of their children by "trained Chicano bilingual professionals."

In addition, they ask the antipoverty commission to assist the Chicano community in obtaining "a fully accredited alternative Chicano school" for grades kindergarten through 12.

THEY ALSO insist that the agency make Mrs. Beason director of the Head Start site, and that it supply the site with equipment that was promised but not delivered.

Unless the Trinity classes are allowed to operate with adequate funds and resources, she warned, the Chicano community will resort to a court injunction and other, more drastic measures. She declined to spell out the other measures, except to say that they would include efforts to close down all of the league's other Head Start classes. There are 27 in all.

DOWNEY CHIEF HAILS RULING

By ARLINE SHERER
Staff Writer

Downey Mayor Donald Winton Thursday praised the State Supreme Court's recent decision to retain existing State Senate and Assembly district boundaries for the 1972 elections and to throw the reapportionment fight back to the Legislature.

"The court's decision was 100 per cent in line with our legal argument that existing lines be retained until an acceptable reapportionment plan could be adopted," he said. "At least now we are not losing representation."

Downey represented a whole and will exert pressure on present representatives.

Reapportionment will be our number one priority this year. Downey should have some voice in what is happening," Winton said.

He chided present representatives for not showing enough interest in the city.

"We can count their combined visits to the city council last year on one hand," he said.

Vehicle use of Thomas Bridge up

Use of the Vincent Thomas Bridge, connecting San Pedro and Terminal Island, increased 8.1 per cent in 1971, the State Division of Bay Toll Crossings reported Friday.

More than six million vehicles used the bridge, the third longest span in California, after the Golden Gate and Trans-Bay bridges in San Francisco.

The eight State-owned toll bridges reported a 3.6 per cent increase in use during 1971, with the largest gain recorded by the San Diego-Coronado Bay Bridge.

Tools stolen from pickup at marina

Tools valued at $1,185 and a set of cutting torches valued at $500 were stolen from the back of a pickup truck belonging to Norman E. Wugh, of Huntington Park, while the vehicle was parked in a lot near Land's End Marina in Long Beach, police reported Friday.

Ex-L.B. policeman new college security chief

A former Long Beach police sergeant has been named security director for the 19-campus California State College system, Chancellor Glena S. Dumke announced Friday in Los Angeles.

C. Norman Lloyd, whose last assignment here was in the personnel and training division, will fill a post vacant since fall. He earned a master's degree in criminology at Cal State, Long Beach, and was graduated from USC's delinquency control institute where he is doing further graduate study.

During 1970-71, he held a part-time appointment as assistant professor at CSLB.

Lloyd joined the Long Beach force in 1963 and served in the patrol, juvenile and detective divisions before moving into personnel work. In that last assignment he was involved in developing a regional criminal justice center here.

He succeeds former director Marvin Herrington, who resigned to join the Stanford University staff. Lloyd and his wife are the parents of two sons.

Pupils to get key Arbor Day role

Sixth grade students from three schools named after people noted for their contributions to parks and conservation will play a featured role in Long Beach's first annual observance of Arbor Day on March 7, the Park Commission has decided.

The schools, Luther Burbank, John Muir and Theodore Roosevelt elementary schools, each will select a boy and a girl to take part in the ceremony at 2 p.m. at El Dorado Park East.

Mrs. Joyce Carter, president of the Park Commission, said the Arbor Day program will also feature the planting of 100 trees in a special Arbor Day grove near the south end of the large lake in that portion of the park north of Wardlow Road.

The commission also will honor a local resident for outstanding contributions to park development in Long Beach, Mrs. Carter said. The selection will be announced shortly.

All garden clubs in the city will be invited to attend the El Dorado Park ceremonies, Mrs. Carter said. The program is open to the public. The City Council has been asked to proclaim March 7 as Arbor Day in Long Beach and March 5-11 as Tree Appreciation Week.

Residents of the city are urged to note the centennial of Arbor Day by planting trees on their property, the commission said.

Electric cart taken from local garage

The electric car of Mrs. Jennie Edna Steeple, 86, of 1538 Cedar Ave., was stolen from her garage by a burglar who broke a lock on the garage door to gain entrance, police reported Friday. The vehicle was valued at about $500, police said.

Bike license teams to be at 9 L.B. schools

City license teams will be at nine Long Beach schools next week to issue bicycle licenses. Adults wishing to license bikes should be at the school between 2 and 2:45 p.m., and youngsters should report between 3 and 4:15 p.m. The license runs for three years and the fee is 50 cents.

If the owner is seeking a license for a new bike, he should bring the bike to the school. If the bike has been licensed previously, it is only necessary to bring in the old paper registration form.

Next week's schedule is:
Monday — Keller, 7020 E. Brittain St.
Tuesday — King, 145 E. Artesia St., and Lafayette, 2445 Chestnut Ave.
Wednesday — Lee, 1620 Temple Ave., and Lincoln, 1175 E. 11th St.
Thursday — Longfellow, 3800 Olive Ave., and Fremont, 4000 E. Fourth St.
Friday — Los Cerritos, 515 W. San Antonio Drive, and Roosevelt, 1574 Linden Ave.

Lakewood ROTC cited

The Lakewood High School Junior Naval ROTC unit has received commendation from the U.S. for its efforts in behalf of the Marines' "Toys For Tots" drive.

Presentation was made by Capt. E. M. St. Clair, Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, at a special inspection of the ROTC unit.

Cadet Joseph Toste accepted for the ROTC unit.

'No cure-all, but beautiful tool'

Hypnosis--answer to many problems, technician claims

By MARK CLUTTER

Do you want to be cheerful and calm and relaxed? Quit smoking? Have a baby without anesthesia, fear or pain? Have a tooth pulled without drugs? Speed up your learning processes? Remember something important?

Hypnosis can be an answer to such problems, says Sol Steinberg, certified hypno-technician, A.A.E.H., who lives at 5912 Fairman St., Lakewood.

Steinberg stresses that self mastery is not a cure-all. "In the hands of a qualified technician it is a beautiful tool that can be used to the benefit of the person," he said.

Steinberg recently asked the Lakewood City Council to grant him a professional license to open an office in Lakewood.

STEINBERG FEELS that the public has a wrong image of hypnosis, equating it with stage acts like magic and juggling. And there are romantic stories of evil hypnotists like Svengali.

"We are opposed to stage hypnosis and to hypnosis as a parlor game," he said.

"We work closely with physicians, psychiatrists, educators and sometimes law enforcement agencies."

Steinberg, who is 48, has had a life-long interest in hypnosis, but did not become professionally involved until several years ago when he received training from Ethical Hypnosis Training Center, New Jersey with Mr. Harry Arons, and Mrs. Julia Anderson, South Gate. He is certified a member of the Association of Advanced Ethical Hypnosis and International Society of Professional Hypnosis.

He described his work methods. "The best way to find a hypnotist would be to seek a list from the associations. Most of my clients — we don't call them patients — come through recommendations of clients or by referrals from physicians.

"I NEVER TAKE anyone with a medical problem without the approval of his doctor. By medical problem I mean anything of a medical nature, being overweight or wanting to quit smoking. When I suspect a client may have a medical problem, I urge him to see a physician."

Most clients are desirous of becoming more efficient in their business, social and athletic prowess, he said. They also want to concentrate and study more effectively.

"Sometimes the results are dramatic," Steinberg said. "I had a client who was so introverted and shy that he was afraid to speak to anyone. He is highly intelligent, but he couldn't bring himself to speak until he had formulated everything he wanted to say precisely."

"Now he makes friends and moves easily among people. He gets along well with his family. And he makes much more money."

Hypnosis that brings real change in a person is not an immediate process.

In self-hypnosis — "All hypnosis is really self-hypnosis" — the client meets with the hypno-technician once a week for about 10 weeks.

Hypnosis works most readily with persons of average intelligence, especially if they are imaginative, he said. Artists and musicians make fine clients. Those who are accustomed to following orders usually work out well.

"Teen-agers are the easiest," "They have a great imagination."

Successful hypnosis must bring the conscious and subconscious mind together. Sometimes this isn't easy.

Painless childbirth often can be brought about most effectively with groups of women in about the same time of pregnancy.

Three-pack smokers can reduce their smoking or stop smoking.

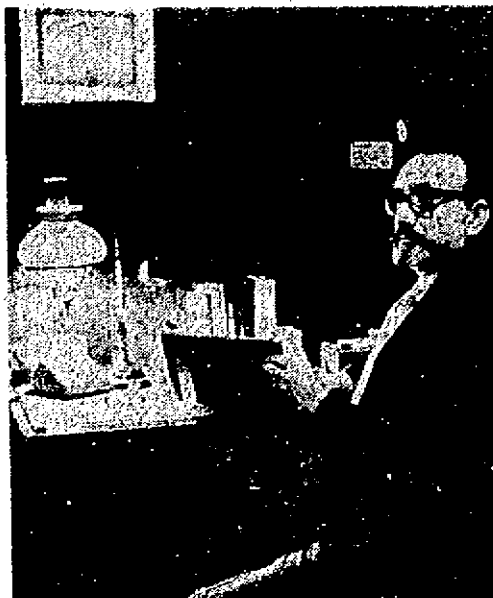

Witnesses of terrible events often blank out important details. Hypnosis can aid law enforcement by restoring memories.

Persons who have unfavorable reactions to pain-deadening drugs can undergo dentistry without pain. Students can learn to concentrate more deeply, thereby speeding and intensifying the learning process.

"TEN MINUTES of hypnotic sleep are equal to two hours of ordinary restful sleep," Steinberg said.

"Hypnosis is an old science which hasn't been fully explored," he said. "More and more doctors, dentists, psychiatrists, teachers and clergymen are taking it up."

"I am glad to be working as a hypnotist. It is very gratifying to guide people to become more proficient in their various disciplines."

Puzzle of Friday, Jan. 27, Solved

By Hank Ketchum

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): What starts out as ordinary routine almost certainly provides an excellent chance for a sparkle of interesting adventure.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): It's up to you — the openings are here for a rather lively Sunday of good feelings, improving family conditions.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A minimum of fact and courtesy go a very long way under today's conditions.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Youthful ideas come forth in a warm-hearted rush. Relax, go along with the best of what's happening.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Stay clear of excitable people. The pause you take to think is the key to success — plan a quiet day.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): What seems an opportunity to impose your scheme isn't really that. However, you can get some good accomplished with forbearance and temporizing.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Start out with just a touch of definite firmness on what you really would like to have happen.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Starting late is now a good course to follow. Accept criticism in the same spirit that it is offered in — likely it's well justified.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Finances are looking up. There is enough variety in this Sunday's experience to keep you cheerful and busy.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): You may have to draw some lines today. Saying "no" is sometimes the only good answer to what you may encounter.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Conservative approaches help as you do your share in your community's customs this Sunday. Prepare for a possible surprise or two.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Your pride and success shouldn't be permitted to lead you into rash and unwise positions. Promise nothing beyond the shortest-range amenities.

Bechtel main Southland office moved to Norwalk

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business Editor

Bechtel Corporation's Los Angeles office began moving this week into a new seven-story office building adjacent to the Norwalk Civic Center.

J. R. Caraco, Bechtel director, vice president, and division manager of the Electrical and Industrial Division to be located there, said the move from the industrial city of Vernon to Norwalk involves 1,300 employees in the company's electrical and industrial division.

The new building at 12400 E. Imperial Highway comprises 243,000 square feet on 16 acres of a 30-acre site.

The Bechtel organization is a worldwide engineering, construction and management services firm with major projects on all seven continents.

In addition to many major industrial projects the electrical and industrial division is involved with the design, engineering and construction of numerous electric generating stations, both domestically and overseas.

Among its most noteworthy projects in the southland has been the $87 million San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station near San Clemente, engineered and constructed for the Southern California Edison and San Diego Gas & Electric companies, and which began commercial operation in 1968.

Bechtel has maintained facilities in Southern California since 1937. During World War II, Bechtel constructed and operated California Shipbuilding Company, a major shipyard at Los Angeles Harbor.

The new Norwalk building is an all-electric, air-conditioned structure featuring bronze-tinted windows to reduce outside glare and heat. Included in the building is a food service facility on the first floor and an auditorium on the second floor. The remainder of the building houses engineering offices and support facilities.

Access to the building is through a north lobby off Imperial Highway and a south lobby facing Leffingwell Road. Five automated elevators serve all floors.

Other features of the building include a fire alarm system based on both temperature rate-of-rise and smoke detection sensors, and an emergency power source for lighting and elevator service in the event of a power failure.

A walled parking area, landscaped with 500 trees, provides space for 1,300 automobiles. Construction on the building began last January.

W. T. Grant & Co. had a 7.7 per cent gain for December to $227.72 million and its sales for the past 11 months were up 9.5 per cent to $1.299 billion.

J. C. Penney's December sales were up 11.2 per cent from a year earlier at $781 million and the 11 month sales were 10.6 per cent higher at $4.3 billion.

Montgomery Ward reported a 7.3 per cent gain for December to $236 million and a 7.4 per cent rise to $2.229 billion for 11 months.

S. S. King Co. had a 19.1 per cent gain for December to $555.9 million and a 21 per cent rise over 11 months to $2.928 billion.

INDUSTRY, BUSINESS WEEK

Labor changes seen by '82

Collective bargaining will give way to productivity bargaining in this decade.

Industry Week's editor-in-chief Walter J. Campbell made the forecast this week.

"Instead of two antagonistic parties sitting at a table at which labor makes outrageous economic demands and industry grudgingly gives as little as possible, we will tend toward bargaining to raise productivity and to make America more competitive in the world market," he predicted.

"True collective bargaining implies negotiation between equals. One party should be as free to make demands as the other," Campbell declared.

A move toward productivity bargaining will not be easy, he said. "It will not be marked by quick success. But, in time, productivity bargaining will usher in a new era of co-operation between managers and workers."

"SOME IMPORTANT CHANGES in attitude will be required. Both labor and management will have to scrap the belief that their interests are antagonistic and realize that without labor there can be no production and without increased productivity industry cannot provide the jobs that Americans need. The interests of both are best served by a healthy and prosperous industry," the editor asserted.

Campbell foresees labor agreeing to give up old work rules in favor of new and more efficient ones desired by managers, and management returning to the workers some of the gains of increased efficiency.

At long last, we will be making progress toward relating compensation to productivity gains," he declared.

PRODUCTIVITY ALREADY IS THE central issue in some labor negotiations. In danger of losing their jobs because of competition from newer plants elsewhere, members of United Rubber Workers Local 5 at the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant in Akron, Ohio, voted overwhelmingly to open negotiations for changes in their labor contract with the company.

Lion Country Safari promotes W. Dredge

Harry Shuster, president of Lion Country Safari, Inc., has announced the promotion of William W. Dredge to the newly created position of corporate administrative officer.

Dredge, a vice president of the fast-growing chain of African wildlife preserves, has been with Lion Country Safari since its inception in 1967, heading the firm's initial attraction in Palm Beach County, Fla.

A 52-year-old native of England, Dredge will assist Shuster in overseeing Lion Country Safari operations in Florida and Orange County, as well as the parks now under construction in Grand Prairie, Tex., and Henry County, Ga.

Dredge will be based at the firm's California headquarters.

WBI acquires majority of Modern Audio stock

Western Bureau of Investigation (WBI) has acquired 51 per cent of the stock in Modern Audio Techniques, Inc. of Long Beach, it was announced by Vernon R. Turcotte, president of WBI.

Modern Audio Techniques, which is headed by Ray Jacobs, is in the field of electronic, audio-visual communications. The company holds the exclusive worldwide distribution rights for the Copy Cass, a newly developed portable, automatic cassette copier.

that is being produced by MCA Tech Products.

The machine can duplicate a 30-minute tape cassette in two-and-one-half minutes and can copy up to 15 cassettes automatically.

MORE THAN $500,000 was spent in the development of the Copy Cass, which is now being marketed. Modern Audio Techniques projects gross sales of more than $15 million over the next five years.

Modern Audio Techniques is the second company Western Bureau of Investigation has acquired in recent months.

The company previously had announced the acquisition of a controlling interest in American Multiplex Systems, Inc. of Anaheim.

Western Bureau is one of the three largest private security organizations in California but over the last year has expanded the base of its company's operations through the acquisition of companies in related and non-related fields.

Key company management will be at each exhibit to answer questions from the public concerning the products and services being offered.

Geared to the small business seeker, programs range from investment of $12 for cosmetic products to $24,000 for a copying center franchise.

An equal number of part time and full involvement programs are represented appealing to both men and women regardless of age.

The show is open 10 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

share, pays 90 cents a share a year. Five large trusts own 312,000 shares. The $1 preferred sells at $17 and it is cheap.

Commonwealth Edison operates in a big 13,000 square mile area in Chicago. The high-grade $2 preferred sells at about $27 a share, with a yield of around 6 per cent plus. Commonwealth shares have enjoyed high price stability.

Detroit Edison, both the preferreds and the common, are also on the bargain counter. Investors desiring large 3-to-4 year appreciation should buy the common, presently selling at $22 a share. The $1.40 annual dividend is comfortably earned. The $5.50 high-grade preferred yields about 7.5 per cent.

The company has asked the Michigan Utility Commission for an increase in rates and it is probable they will be approved.

The $3.75 very high General Motors preferred at $60 a share is cheap. And the common at $32-$33 a share is a great purchase for large appreciation in 1973-1974, if not before.

NIAGARA MOHAWK HAS A GREAT variety of preferreds outstanding. The $5.25 stock sells for $72 a share yielding over 7 per cent.

Very good news comes out of Washington. The secretary of the treasury, John B. Connally, forecasts a strong national economy with the Dow-Jones industrials moving through 1000 and maybe as high as 1100!

From President Nixon down to thousands of officeholders standing for election this year, these are glad tidings. And millions of stockholders will rejoice and their spending will be large.

MANY READERS OF THIS COLUMN telephone or write me for concrete ideas about investing. As a result, today I shall mention a group of preferred stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

American Can $1.75 preferred selling at around $26-$27 a share yields a high return. It is the leading world wide producer of metal and fiber containers. Yearly sales are approaching $2 billion.

Armco Steel, with annual sales of about $1.750 billion has outstanding a $4.75 preferred presently selling at $6 a share. Both the common and the preferred are bargain gains. The common is for speculators desiring large capital gains.

I have never mentioned Cluett-Peabody. It is the world's largest producer of men's shirts. Annual sales are around $500 million. The common, selling at $23

Productivity in slow-up

NEW YORK (AP) — During the past few years the increase in productivity of the American economy has slowed markedly, causing many critics to claim that America is losing the skills that made it the foremost industrial nation.

Management is blamed for not being more innovative. Unions are accused of being obstructionist. Workers, some claim, do not apply themselves. Big business is charged with monopoly. Government regulation is said to be oppressive.

All these have been cited at one time or another for blocking productivity gains, and there may be some truth in the claims. Productivity has grown only 2.1 per cent a year in the past five years compared with a 20-year average of 3.

BUT RATHER than blaming any one element or seeking the answer in some indefinable change in the American character, others see the decline resulting more from a failure to understand the areas in which improvements can be made.

Productivity is improved by the more efficient use of men, money and machines. But as Gordon F. Bloom of the Sloan School of Management at Massachusetts Institute of Technology notes, we have done this mainly on the basis of individual companies. Now we may have to do so on an industry basis.

The opportunities for improving productivity now lie in "the interfirm locus rather than the intrafirm area which until now has been the major sphere of productivity emphasis," he stated before a panel of the Conference Board.

MANAGEMENT, I said, has come to recognize that even though individual components of a total system are each working well, they will not necessarily generate maximum efficiency for the company as a whole.

One reason for this, he said, is that one facility within a company may improve its productivity at the expense of another. He cited as an example a company with one warehouse to serve a number of retail stores.

If the warehouse manager cut down on the frequency of store deliveries, prohibited all special orders and restricted hours for shipping to suit the convenience of the warehouse, he would raise tons shipped per manhour.

But, productivity at the store would suffer, as would the company itself.

SOMETHING of the same sort now is being done on the industry level, he suggested; with companies improving their productivity at the expense of each other but not for the good of the industry — or the country.

Managers "have ignored the effect of their actions upon other units within the industry system," he told the panel.

Pat Paulsen's political gifts cost him his Mickey Mouse

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Mickey Mouse is returning to TV next week in a Disney show on Ch. 4, next Wednesday, titled, "The Mouse Factory."

Just in time for the political Mickey Mouse season, too.

You see, one of the people who was supposed to be on the show was Pat Paulsen.

Paulsen, however, has become a candidate for president on the Republican Party ballot in the New Hampshire primary.

Which, as far as NBC is concerned, makes Paulsen a serious candidate — as compared with his nonserious candidacy in his previous run for the presidency.

ONE HAS to assume the seriousness of the Paulsen candidacy. He has paid his $500 filing fee and submitted the required number of signatures to qualify for the ballot in New Hampshire. According to Jerry Buck, of the Associated Press, Paulsen's name will appear on the ballot as a Republican candidate for the party's nomination.

"How come the Republican Party?" Buck asked.

"There are two choices, Republican and Democratic," replied Paulsen, "so I flipped a coin. Actually, it's because I'm opposed to the administration."

AT LEAST, NBC is taking the Paulsen candidacy seriously and has canceled him out of "Mouse Factory" and an appearance on another nonserious show with the Harlem Globetrotters.

As has been noted, there are an awful lot of candidates for the presidency in the primaries and NBC takes the Federal Communications Commission regulation governing equal time for all candidates seriously. NBC's position is that if Paulsen is on a variety show equal time will have to be given other candidates should they ask for it.

Paulsen's lawyers don't see other candidates seeking to play basketball with the Harlem Globetrotters on TV. Which leads one to wonder, why not? But, that's another matter.

Paulsen's lawyers want an FCC investigation; they claim that the NBC action is "willful interference in Paulsen's contractual relations, disruption of his career and a serious blow to freedom of expression and political rights of a professional entertainer."

I DON'T know how serious a blow this is to Paulsen's freedom of expression and political rights, but the NBC decision does cut him out of some TV appearances. Just how serious this all is to Paulsen's career or candidacy, I don't know. He has not been very active in TV — that is not as active as he once was. In a way, Paulsen kind of reminds me of Harold Stassen, who once was a serious candidate but after a number of campaigns one sort of began thinking of him as a kind of a comic who came to the surface once every four years.

A filing fee of $500 and the cost of getting 1000 signatures on a nominating petition to qualify for the New Hampshire ballot is not a very expensive item in publicity campaigns for TV people. In this case, it may have cost Paulsen a lot more than he expected, and may even make a serious candidate out of him.

Which, in an election year is not a particularly bad thing. Some humor wouldn't hurt a bit.

Knicks snap Lakers home hex, 104-101

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

New York's trademark is hitting the open man, thus creating high percentage shots, and Friday night the Knicks did this to perfection en route to a surprising 104-101 victory over the Lakers at the Forum.

It was the first time since Oct. 31, a span of 18 games, that the Lakers have lost at home, and the defeat was much like the meter shooters. The key is to keep the ball 'hot' until you find the open man. Frazier did not shoot well (4-for-14) but he set up a lot of shots and most of his teammates made them, especially Jerry Lucas, who hit from everywhere in piling up 26 points.

Tireless Dave DeBusschere was outstanding with 20 points and 15 rebounds, and Earl (The Pearl) Monroe turned in his finest game as a Knick with 15 points in 17 minutes.

The Lakers appeared to lack the motivation necessary to beat a formidable team. With a sparkling record (41-6) and the division title virtually locked up, motivation could be a problem the rest of the year.

Jerry West doesn't agree with that contention, however.

"A pro should always be motivated," he says. "I don't feel lack of motivation will affect us." West and Gail Goodrich made only 21 points apiece, 10 under the combined average. Worse, they missed 27 of 40 shots.

New York is a proud defensive team, and Frazier and DeBusschere may be the best in the league at their positions. The only weak spot is in the middle with Lucas, and the Lakers exploited this as much as possible with Walt Chamberlain scoring 28 points.

Chamberlain missed 8 of 12 from the free throw line, however, and they

Billie Jean survives sudden death, 7-6, 7-5

By BOB MARTIN
Staff Writer

Billie Jean King survived a sudden-death tie breaker in the first set and fought off two set points in the second to defeat Helen Gourlay of Australia, 7-6, 7-5, Friday night in The Independent Press-Telegram's $17,000 Women's Tennis championships.

In a daytime match, Kerry Melville of Australia ousted third-seeded Virginia Wade of England, 6-2, 7-5.

King and Gourlay played brilliantly in their quarter-final battle before 900 enthusiastic spectators in the Cerritos College men's gym. Questionable line calls were all that marred the contest, best of the tournament.

When the attractive Australian girl hit a backhand shot wide to end the long match shortly before 11 o'clock, Billie Jean said "bless you!" It had been that close.

In the nine-point tie-breaker that went into effect at 6-4, Billie won five points to one, aided by two questionable calls against Miss Gourlay. On one of the points, Helen was in position to play the shot but didn't, believing it was out. However, she made no protest.

In the second set, the young Aussie, who was runnerup in the French Open last year, led 5-4 with her serve coming up in the 10th game.

She took a 40-30 lead but then served the only double fault of the contest on her first set point. After getting the advantage again, Helen hit a backhand volley that was called out on a late and questionable call.

Billie Jean then took the next two points and the next two games, both close, for the match. Joining King and Melville in today's semifinals with triumphs Friday were Rosemary Casals of San Francisco and Francoise Durr of France.

Featuring tonight's card in the Long Beach City College gymnasium will be a battle between Mrs. King and Miss Durr, the top two women money winners of 1971. It is scheduled at 8 p.m.

Miss Melville, runnerup to Mrs. King last week at San Francisco, will take on Miss Casals at 1 p.m., also in the LBCC gym.

Friday's winners are assured of collecting at least $1,200, while the four losers earned $700 each.

Attendance at the day-time matches was about the same as on Thursday — approximately 1,300, including several hundred girls from Wilson High, who watched during physical education classes.

In matches outdoors at the B. J. King Center preceding and following the Melville-Wade clash, second-seeded Miss Casals halted the only qualifier to reach the quarterfinals, Wendy Overton of Chevy Chase, Md., 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, and Miss Durr eliminated Julie Heldman of Houston, 6-2, 6-1.

'Frightened to death,' Nastase walks off court

Combined News Services

LONDON — In an incident unprecedented in the history of tennis, a player was frightened into defeat by default during the Rothman International semifinals Friday.

Clark Graebner won a stormy default after winning the first set, 6-3. Following the seventh game, Graebner huddled the net, grabbed Romania's Ilie Nastase by the shirt and wagged a finger in his face.

"You can't do to me what you did to Cliff Richey," Graebner shouted, referring to the December Masters Tournament in Paris when Nastase ruined Richey's concentration by continually needling him.

Nastase claimed Graebner threatened "to smash his racket over my head. I was frightened to death and trembling so much I just couldn't play."

The shouting continued and before the second set could begin, Nastase stalked off the court, accompanied by the boos of the crowd.

"This guy is famous for his act," said Graebner. "All the players know about his continuing disparaging remarks."

Then Clark scoffed, "He was just scared I was going to beat him again. I've beaten him six times in eight matches and he doesn't like it. Some will sit back and take it, but no one is going to bully me on the court."

Bruins KO swinging Santa Clara, 92-57

By RICH ROBERTS
Staff Writer

Santa Clara's Broncos came in cool and went down swinging, 92-57, no match for UCLA's Bruins — efficient to the point of frustration—and their 12-283 partisan fans at Pauley Pavilion Friday night.

The Broncos opened with a stall offense but the Bruins squeezed it for a dozen turnovers in the first half and checked the visitors with 13 points (37-13), an all-time Pauley low.

From that point the game deteriorated into fairly interesting basketball — a Pauley high, at least for this season.

Bronco Mike Stewart, finding that 6-11 sophomore Bill Walton wouldn't allow him to do the things he had been doing to everybody else, was kicked out by referee George Sellick when he hurled the ball high into the balcony early in the second half — another Pauley record.

His late replacement, Bill Stege, wound up in a last-minute fistfight with Walton's sub, Sven Nater. UCLA's cool soph. playmaker, Greg Lee, observed, "I think it heightened a pretty dull game."

Statistically, it was a routine performance for the top-ranked Bruins, now 13-0, with No. 14 scheduled to commence at 8 tonight against Denver (5-6).

Walton scored 15 points, collected eight rebounds and blocked five shots, but forward Keith Wilkes was the game's high scorer with 16, all from the field and most from flashing drives with a little help from his friends.

Larry Hollyfield enjoyed himself immensely as UCLA coach John Wooden used all 12 players. It was a typical Hollywood show — 10 points, four fouls and a lot of handslapping as he traded assists with his teammates.

Santa Clara (9-5) entered the game as the nation's ninth highest field goal percentage team (49.9) and Stewart, a 6-10 junior, was third individually at 67.3. In this one, though, the Broncos shot 36.7 per cent and Stewart was 3-for-8 (37.5).

USC assistant Stan Morrison, scouting for Bob Boyd who was in Seattle looking at the club the Trojans play next week, said he didn't see how Santa Clara coach Carroll Williams could have had a better game plan.

"It was well-conceived with a controlled tempo and rotation of the players," Morrison said, "but

Cal grabs White, Stanford lands Christiansen in 'musical chairs'

BERKELEY (AP) — Track coach Dave Maggard became the University of California's new athletic director Friday and immediately selected Mike White, from rival Stanford, as the Bears' football coach.

The appointment of Maggard and White, both in their 30s, to the key jobs in the troubled Cal athletic program ended a hectic period of coaching musical chairs at Cal and Stanford.

"I never considered anyone else," said Maggard, 32, after he tabbed White coach at a news conference. "I know Mike White's strong feelings for Cal."

he was an assistant the past eight years.

Ralston had called White "the odds-on favorite" to fill the Stanford vacancy. But White turned down Stanford's offer Friday morning and 48-year-old Jack Christiansen, a former professional star and coach of the San Francisco 49ers, was appointed to the Indians' post.

Christiansen moves up after serving four years as a Stanford assistant.

Maggard said that Isaac Curtis and Larry Brumsey, athletes whose cases led to the NCAA putting Cal on probation, will be allowed to continue to compete. The NCAA considers them ineligible.

Georgia Tech also filled its coaching vacancy Friday by appointing Alumnus Bill Fulcher, from Tulsa, to the post. Fulcher, 37, succeeds Bud Carson, who was fired after five years at Tech in which he compiled a 27-27 record.

The University of South Carolina hired St. Louis Cardinal All-Pro safetyman Jerry Sloval, 30, as an assistant, and Bill Giles, head football coach at Chadron State, Neb., was selected as head coach at Hays State College, Kan.

49ERS TACKLE LOYOLA ON TV

By JIM McCORMACK
Staff Writer

CHICAGO — Cal State Long Beach gets a golden opportunity for recognition today when it meets Chicago-Loyola in a nationally televised basketball game.

The contest is the first game of a Chicago Stadium doubleheader and may be seen in the Southland on a delayed-tape basis on Channel 7 at 1 p.m.

The game may be heard live, beginning at 10:30 a.m., on KEZR-FM (98). South Carolina and Iowa meet in today's second game.

The contest is an important one for the 49ers, who are out of the state of California for the first time since their 90-83 loss to Southwestern Louisiana Dec. 11.

Cal State has won 11 games in a row since that defeat and has climbed to fourth in Associated Press's ratings and sixth with United Press International.

A victory over Loyola today would enhance that national reputation. George Ireland's Chicago club is 7-6 and will enter today's game off a 10-point loss to second-ranked Marquette Wednesday night.

The Ramblers return virtually intact from last season with center LaRue Martin keying their attack. Martin, a 6-foot-10 senior, averages 19.5 points per game as well as 16.2 rebounds. He ranks fifth in the nation in rebounding.

The Ramblers start 6-5 Pat Compobasso and 6-3 Nate Hayes at forwards and Alan Kendall and Rich Ford at guards.

Ford particularly stands out in the mind of Cal State coach Jerry Tarkenton. He hit for 28 points last season in a game

Olympic rematch -Ryun vs. Keino

By JOHN DIXON
Staff Writer

Jim Ryun vs. Kipchoge Keino — the race of the year — kicks off Olympic year tonight in the L.A. Sports Arena.

A host of Olympians of the past and future will participate in Al Franken's five-hour track and field circus, but the centerpiece is the Olympic Games rematch.

On Oct. 20, 1968, Keino won the Olympic metric mile in Mexico's 7349-foot atmosphere in 3:34.9. Ryun was 23 yards to the rear in 3:37.8. When he recovered, Ryun gasped, "I want another chance."

Tonight he gets it.

"I'm in wonderful shape," Keino, a 32-year-old Kenya policeman, said. "My legs feel fine and I'm learning how to run indoors."

Keino usually establishes a hot tempo, but Ryun said, "I may go out fast myself, because I really don't know what kind of shape I'm in."

Keino is coming off a 3:59.4 mile — his first indoors under four minutes — in Maryland, and a 4:04.2 in Albuquerque's elevation.

Their stopwatch goal will be Ryun's indoor record of 3:56.4, established a year ago.

They may have to challenge the record to conquer John Lawson of the Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach.

Lawson ran away from Keino last year — and he's in better condition today. There are other headlines.

High jump: indoor record holder Reynolds Brown (7-4) duels former titlist John Rambo (7-3) and outdoor record holder Pat Matzdorf (7-6 1/4).

Pole vault: indoor record holder Kjell Isaksson of Sweden (17-9) faces the improved Steve Smith of Cal State Long Beach (17-1) and veteran Dick Railsback.

Long jump: record holder Bob Beamon (29-2 1/2) outdoors, 27-2 1/4 indoors) launches his comeback against Henry Hines of USC, James McAllister of UCLA, Arnie Robinson of Fort Ord — three of the world's best — and Terry Metcalf of Cal State Long Beach, who has shown the potential to jump with the best.

Shotput: indoor titlist Al Feuerbach (68-11) of the Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach tests outdoor champ Randy Matson (71-5 1/2), and Olympic silver medalist George Woods (68-3/4) of the PCC.

Two-mile: the Arena record of 8:37.4 may take a drastic cut from the assault of Frank Shorter, Tracy Smith, Aussie Kerry Pearce, and three-time Olympian George Young. Young has been almost unbeatable indoors.

The major leaguers will open competition at 7:45 p.m. in the pole vault. A 16-event high school program, possibly to be dominated by Poly High, will begin at 5:45 p.m.

Tickets will be on sale at Sports Arena box offices.

Predicted finish, with events listed in chronological order beginning with pole vault at 7:45 p.m. (Indoor records in parentheses.)

Pole vault (17-9)—Isaksson (Sweden), Smith (Pacific Coast Club), Railsback (USC).
500 yds. hurdles (68-11)—Davenport (Tex. St.), Babb (USC), Power (Strick).

Long jump (29-2 1/2)—Beamon (USC), Robinson (Fort Ord), Metcalf (Cal St. L.B.).

Women's 400 yds. (45-3)—Ferrell (U.C. Merced), Ferguson (West Coast Jalt), Wilson (L.A. TC).

Shotput (68-11)—Feuerbach (PCC), Matson (Tex. St.), Woods (Tex. St.).

High jump (7-4)—Brown (7-4), Rambo (7-3), Matzdorf (7-6 1/4).

Two-mile (8:37.4)—Young (USC), Shorter (Poly H.S.), Pearce (PCC).

Critical Metro clash Vikings 'readjust' for S.M.

By CHARLIE MACK
Staff Writer

A slightly readjusted Long Beach City College basketball team travels to Santa Monica City College tonight for a critical Metropolitan Conference clash.

Tipoff is at 8 in the Corsairs' gym.

Santa Monica, with a 3-0 record, is tied with El Camino for the Metro lead. The Vikings (2-1) are in hot pursuit, but a loss tonight could almost knock them out of the conference picture.

"It's definitely a must game for us," says LBCC coach Lute Olson. "The fact that we lost to El Camino at home makes tonight's game that much more crucial. If we lost we're going to have to have a lot of help from a few other teams to get back into the race."

With pre-season and early-conference experimenting over, Olson has made a few adjustments in his starting lineup.

Floyd Heaton, who turned in a most competent job in his first starting performance against Bakersfield, is a starter again tonight. To make room for the burly Heaton, Olson has moved 6-foot Danny Peters to the backcourt, a position Peters played throughout high school and as an LBCC freshman last year.

John Sagehorn, who's lately been displaying the form that won him Moore

How to get there
From Long Beach, take the San Diego Fwy. north to the Santa Monica Fwy. junction. Go west on the Santa Monica and take the Cloverfield exit. Turn left on Cloverfield to Pico. Make a right at Pico. Santa Monica City College is located on the left side of the street about a half mile from Cloverfield.

League player of the year honors last year at Wilson, has been permanently switched from the backcourt to forward.

"Dan and John have been playing both guard and forward all year long," Olson explains. "We've now put them into situations where they don't have to worry about playing two positions."

"As far as I'm concerned, Danny is our third guard. We have three starting guards — Danny, Bill Mullen and Steve Dal-

COOPER RISKS STATE RING TITLE TONIGHT

Heavy-hitting George Cooper of Oakland is a slight favorite to retain his California middleweight championship against Clarence (Butch) Geigger of Los Angeles tonight at the Long Beach Auditorium.

Cooper is a 2-1 choice in the 12-rounder.

Cooper has lost only twice in 27 bouts and has scored 18 knockouts. An AAU and Golden Gloves champ before turning pro in 1968, Cooper's knockout victims include Nate Collins, Billie Morris, Chuck Hamilton, Honey Bear Bryant and Orlando de la Fuente.

Cooper captured the state crown in 1969 by decisioning Ralph McCoy.

Geigger, who has fought mostly in Nevada rings, enters the title bout with a 22-1 record. The loss was to former junior middleweight king Freddie Little.

Geigger's most impressive victories were over Rocky Hernandez, Carlos Salinas and Johnny Wise.

The winner tonight will be signed to box either Mike Nixon or Rudy Robles, according to matchmaker Mickey Davies.

Prelims are Spider Reyes vs. Lemone Salas, 6 rounds, 135 pounds; Ruben Coria vs. Ray Illamas, 6 rounds, lightweights; Rosario Murrillo vs. Johnny Dunn, 4 rounds, middleweights.

The program begins at 8 p.m.

Foster leads field for Permatex '200'

RIVERSIDE (Special) — There will be a new look to the sixth Permatex 200 when the green flag is unfurled today for the 1 p.m. start at Riverside International Raceway.

Clem Proctor will not be on the pole.

Proctor, 43-year-old nightclub owner from Paramount, had dominated qualifying of Sportsman stock car races at Riverside the last two years — four races, four pole positions.

But when qualifying ended last weekend for the $20,000 event, Bill Foster, a muffler shop owner from Newhall, had replaced him. Foster drove his 1964 Plymouth around Riverside's 2.62 mile road course in 1:29.65, an average speed of 105.209 mph.

Proctor, last year's Permatex 200 winner, encountered engine problems and the best he could do in his 1963 Thunderbird was place fourth on the grid with a speed of 103.850 mph.

A field of 44 Sportman cars of 1961-68 vintage will start today's race, a companion to Sunday's $105,000 Winston-Western 500 for NASCAR Grand National stock cars.

Friday's second qualifying session for the Western 500 added 15 cars and brought the total so far qualified to 30. The final 10 qualifiers will be determined in time trials today.

A. J. Foyt won the pole position Thursday with a speed of 110.033 mph.

But Foyt's time was not the fastest in the field. Friday, Bobby Allison clocked a 110.212 to lead second day qualifiers, but the course record speed only earned him 16th spot on the grid. He was washed out Thursday when his transmission linkage broke.

KINGS TEST FLYERS, STARS BACK-TO-BACK

By GARY RAUSCH
Staff Writer

The Kings begin another one of those long weekends that only another National Hockey League also can not appreciate or commiserate with.

They entertain Philadelphia tonight; catch a 1 a.m. flight for Minnesota and play the North Stars 16 hours later.

Philadelphia has sealed the ladder between third and seventh place the first half of the season. Against the Kings the Flyers record is 1-2-1, though they've been outscored, 10-6.

Goalies Doug Favell and Bruce Gamble boast 1-0 and 2-0 shutouts while King backstop Gary Edwards shows a 7-0 whitewash. Last Sunday Favell and Edwards matched saves in a 3-3 tie.

Minnesota is a one-sided affair, the North Stars holding a 4-0 margin in games this season. In fact the skaters from the frozen north are 10-0-1 in their last 11 games with Cesare Maniago in the nets each contest.

Maniago is the obvious choice Sunday, probably against Rogie Vachon. Edwards and Favell are the likely combatants tonight.

Big Shot II heads huge San Marcos field

Sigmund Sommer's front-running Big Shot II, victorious at a mile and one-eighth on the main track at Santa Anita recently, will try to carry his speed a mile and one-quarter on the turf today when he faces eight rivals in the second division of the $30,000-added San Marcos Handicap.

The San Marcos was split into two sections when 19 horses passed the entry box, and the second division (eighth race) appears to be the tougher section with recent winners Golden Eagle II and Maybado among the eight opponents for high-weighted (122 pounds) Big Shot.

Panzer Chief, New Zealand-bred winner of two turf races during the Oak Tree meeting, will be starting high weight (119) in the first division, to be run as the sixth race.

Joining Big Shot II, Golden Eagle and Maybado in the second division are Riboronde, Qulludi, The Pruner, Practicante, Moomba Fox and Brabant II.

Completing the first division with Panzer Chief are Paraj, Kuba Khan II and Tumble Lark (all owned by Sommer and trained by Frank Martin) plus Lord Derby, Loud Aggressively, Rinconado, Bold Inquiry and Headlamp.

Street Dancer, apparently never better in her career, registered her second triumph of the season Friday with a game victory in the featured $15,000 Mr. Consistency Handicap before 10,242 fans.

Carrying highweight of 123 pounds over a mile and one-eighth on the grass, Street Dancer responded to the urging of jockey Fernando Toro to resist the late challenge of longshot Cruz de Roble by a head. Balcony's Babe was a fastclosing third, with well-supported Last of the Line fourth in the field of ten older fillies and mares.

Street Dancer paid $5, $3.40 and $2.40. Cruz de Roble, piloted by Don Pierce, went postward at 15-1 and paid $10.20 and $4.80, while Balcony's Babe returned $3.40.

Fans will have a chance to get a good look at Canonero II, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner and champion 3-year-old of 1971. This will be the horse's first public appearance since he missed the triple crown by finishing fifth in the Belmont Stakes. Canonero II, with exercise rider Neal Davis, will work out after the third race.

Cal keeps pressure on Bucs

East Los Angeles City College scored the last eight points in overtime to upset fourth-ranked Rio Hondo 76-72, Friday night.

ELA's front-line of Ken Gray (18 points), Jim Miller (18) and Vince Carrillo (18) were the big difference for the Huskies, who blew 68-58 lead with 2:30 remaining in regulation time.

In another SoCal Conference game Golden West, paced by Jim Anderson's 22 points, defeated L.A. Southwest 96-73.

Edward Buchanan had 25 points in a losing cause.

In a South Coast Conference thriller 18th-ranked LACC edged Harbor 67-65.

Santa Fe scored with 35 seconds remaining in the game to make the score 65-64.

Gary McJimsey stole a pass and was fouled. He

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

We're still planting sweet peas. They are available in plant bands. The bush type are ready to set out in the sunny garden area. The climbing sweet peas can be trained to support a trellis or a south or a west-exposure wall. The well-started plants are past the bird-damage danger.

Individual holes should be prepared by working in some fruit-flower-maker fertilizer and organic material mixed well with the soil. The dry plant holes should be filled with water first. The plants are set out in the prepared soil after the water has disappeared into the soil. They are then watered well.

SWEET PEAS planted last fall should be fertilized. The plants should not be kept constantly moist. Too much moisture can cause mildew as well as heavy flower-bud drop. (Sharp spells of frosts, too, cause temporary bud drop.) Water plants deeply only as needed. Do the watering in the forenoons. Watch for aphids. Spray the plants with insecticides if any are found.

Sweet peas are annuals. For the period of time they grow, bloom, and produce masses of flowers, they are excellent plants.

SWEET PEAS... for Cutting Flowers

Perennials, on the other hand, are flowering garden plants that last for some years and bloom in their season annually. Some fewer perennials flower off and on the year around.

Such perennials are Shasta Daisy, Phlox, Gerbera, the Transvaal Daisy, Tulbaghia, Agapanthus, Clivia, Day Lily, Iris, Mo-rea, Kniphofia the red hot poker, Helleborus Orientalis the lenten rose, and a number of others. Helleborus is the only perennial of those named that needs more shade than sun to produce long-stem flowers.

NOW's the season to purchase some of the perennials because they're available bare root. This means they cost less than they will later when they'll be planted in pots.

We lacked space in one of our recent garden columns on pruning bush roses, to explain how to support on a fence or a wall and trained to grow out horizontally. Cutting off the lateral-cane ends doesn't stop the rose canes from continuing to grow. The only way to permanently stop the length growth is to carefully bend the ends down and tie them to the supports. This forces the buds on all sides of the lateral canes to grow out and up. These new secondary growths are the blooming branches. They are cut back to within two to three buds of the lateral canes when the blossoms are picked for cut flower use, or when the flowers have faded on the plant.

CLUB NOTES

The Paramount Branch of the National Fuchsia Society will meet Thursday at 1440 Paramount Blvd. A general workshop program is scheduled. Visitors are welcome.

FLOWER SHOW
The first registered standard flower show in the nation is scheduled aboard the Queen Mary Friday. It is being held by the Long Beach Garden Club, Inc., in cooperation with the Long Beach Heart Association, Inc., and is open to all amateur gardeners in the Costa Verde district.

Entries in the artistic division must be made in advance. Copies of the schedule may be obtained by mailing a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Long Beach Garden Club president, Mrs. Lee Chadwick, 106 Prospect Ave., Long Beach 90803.

The Costa Verde district includes South Los Angeles County, from Manchester Boulevard to the Orange County line.

The Orange County Organic Garden Club will hear Mrs. Weston Walker, past president of the California Garden Clubs, at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 31. The meeting is to be held in the Republic Federal Savings and Loan Building, 2400 E. 17th St., Santa Ana.

Visitors are welcome.

The Belmont Heights Garden Club will meet in Wesley Hall, 317 Termino Avenue February 1, 1972 at 1 p.m. Glenn Walker, president of the Herb Society of Long Beach will speak. Visitors are welcome.
